By the Petition of Cassandra Sumrell of Anne Arundel County it appears that she is a poor old Woman who lives in the Pine Woods on the Road leading from Annapolis to Spinnertown. That she has a numerous family of Children and Grand Children who reside with her. That she lives at a place where people travelling that Road usually call to water their Horses there being no Water on the Road. That several persons calling for that purpose she was prevailed upon to sell them a half a pint of Brandy. for which she was presented and at the present April Term was adjudged to pay the forfeiture. The Petitioner states that she and her family all support a good and honest Character and strive hard to support and maintain themselves honestly. That if she is obliged to pay the fine it will be greatly injurious to her family, if not ruinous to them. That she is old and infirm. That she herself is poor labourer. The Board on consideration of which circumstances and from the recommendation of the Court of the said County do remit the said fine.
