By the Petition of William Gates of Washington County accompanied by a Transcript from the Proceedings of the Court of the said County it appears that he was fined by the said Court at March Term last the sum of forty dollars for obstructing the passage of the River Potomac. The Petitioner states that he did erect a fish pot in the said River but it was at a time of low water when no Boats could navigate the same, and that he removed the same obstruction before the water of the River had risen so as to admit Boats to ascend or descend the River and that in reality no Boat whatever was or could have been in the least obstructed by reason of the said erection and that at the time he erected the fish pot he was under the impression that no injury could possibly arise from it to any person whatever.
