

dollars for keeping a gaming table. The petitioner states, that he was utterly ignorant that a law of the State prohibited gaming; that he was resident of Alexandria and was seduced by artful and cunning persons to assume the management of the table and that he paid to the steward of the Race ground for a license which he deemed conferred an authority to play; that he is poor and has a large family, he, therefore, prays for a remission of the said fine. And the said Court having recommended a compliance with the prayer of the petitioner in words, hereby remits the said fine.
