By the petition of Richard Crew it appears that at June Term 1830 of Baltimore City Court he was fined in the sum of thirty dollars including costs, for selling liquor without an Ordinary licence.

It appears by the petition that on the 11th June 1829. the Petitioner took out licence as an Ordinary Keeper, which licence was dated back to 1st May: and having mislaid it, and relying on his memory, he did not call to renew it, until the 12 or 13 June 1830. That the office was closed, & found closed on three several visits of a friend who was furnished with money to renew the said licence; in consequence of which he has been fined.

And the Court having under the circumstances recommended a remission of the fine, We do therefore hereby remit it.
