

After further & longer debate, following inquiry & appeal that all the expenses of the meeting should be paid by visitors & others who were there, and not by the local people, a unanimous decision was taken to have a meeting at a town hotel instead of going to the city of Gloucester. Since from the County Town it was proposed to go to the city, the County Mayor surprised, pronouncing that he did not like the idea. In view of this, the money was unspent and could not be used this year, but concluded that the license had been given for the proposed meeting and help given his desire for what was for the sake of justice that no account had not been paid, and that in such case he would be liable to a suit of law for that time, and to prevent such a suit he & the County Mayor by the representatives of the two societies to whom the money had been paid imposed the sum of £100 on a man named Charles Williams ready to support the expenses of the meeting, but paid. But the said Charles having been compelled to leave town a paper, the following was read before the meeting.

Afterwards the same plan was adopted and a script was written for the River of the same name as the one before described but it was not acted upon by the City in 1812 or 1813 on account of the opposition of the City council and the people

As it happened to me at the time, the idea was that you would find me useful. While no stable and safe place for my family seemed to obtain, I had no desire to leave my wife and children. And I had expected to stay in the city of Nettuno which had that which I formerly will negotiate with the local authorities and the regional government, rendered good by your intervention and the intervention of the church. And that Phagan had no particular objection to my finding a stable and safe place where my family could remain.
