By the petition of Maria Cordy and transcripts from the Record of Baltimore City Council, appears that a certain James Cordy was fined by the said Court at October Term 1833 for an assault & battery on Thomas Lucas, one dollar, and for an assault & battery on William Hill, five dollars.

The petitioner states that she is a widow and mother of the said James Cordy, who is a youth of about seventeen years of age, small of his age and feeble in his constitution, that the affair which led to his conviction for the said offenses happened on the night of the third of July, in his own Wash number of room, were abroad in the street, that her son alleged from the first and till the end that he is innocent, and she prays for his release from the said fines. And several gentlemen having recommended a compliance with her prayer, we do hereby remit the said fines.
