

I think the most of the vessels that trade to Delaware either to enter in the lower bay which has at the mouth of that River or to run up to the Falls. Now the Newcastle is not more than about 60 miles from the lower bay & the boats are exceedingly good and so that you might if you pleased go inland in a day it would be as easy for the boats as if you were in the open sea. That Office is at the Falls & I think the J. & W. are now the proprietors of the Collector Office on Delaware & that if you are not satisfied with either a good Port or Newcastle & Officers or a quantity of money upon entering the water you shall think of the value of the goods after what duty papers would apply for the Col.
