

17

offices in the Government were not. You may be apinced long & you may say the Gentleman himself took care that it should be no Secret to you and it now seems to me that if he succeeded in the Application which he had then without my knowledge made to you his Friends & Dependants may be the better able to persuade others that he had carried his Point in opposition on to me & that consequently his Interest with His Lord & Yourself is upon to mine, I cannot I say help thinking that this was his View in behaving after such a manner, & it would presume, be needless to tell you what conclusions have been drawn from my receiving peremptory instructions (as it hath been most industriously reported throughout the Province) to appoint Mr Dulaney Your Deputy; It is also said that he hopes to effect still something more before he returns again from England where you will see him before the end of the Summer, as he has signified to me that he intends to embark some time next Month. The Reason he gives me for undertaking such a Voyage is that he thinks it will conduce to the establishment of his health, & I hope he has no worse In-fention or View, or if he has freely on His Lord's Justice & Your Friendship that his Expectations will in such case be frustrated. Should he in Conversation or by means of other Persons suggest or insinuate any thing to the Disadvantage of myself or others Oblige & force me further to you so far as to desire him to give you an Account of such Matter in Writing for whatever Liberty he may take to assert Falshoods or misrepresent Transactions viva voce I do not conceive that he will choose to subscribe it an Untruth, especially if he apprehends it will not remain a Secret. Last his resentment at his Brother's being disappointed in his ambition I will say unreasonable Desires should prompt him to injure me I conceived it my Duty thus freely to give you these hints nevertheless