

incurred by marching the Militia of any State or Territory of the United States to their places of rendezvous, in pursuance of a Requisition of the President of the United States or which shall have been or may be incurred in cases of call made by the Authority of any State or Territory which shall have been or may be approved by him, shall be adjusted and paid in like manner as the expenses incurred after their arrival at such place of Rendezvous on the requisition of the President of the United States and forth. It appears evidently to us that this Law intended to embrace all expenses of the Militia necessarily incurred in the defence of any State or part thereof, we therefore deem it expedient to inform you that a considerable portion of the Militia of the State of Maryland were called into service for the express purpose of aiding Commodore Barney's Flotilla in the Potomac: an entire Brigade was also engaged in defending the shores of Saint Mary's and Charles Counties when the Enemy entered the Patowmac; a number of Troops were employed also in repelling marauding parties from some of the Counties on the Eastern Shore and others were ordered out for the defence of Baltimore prior to the President's first requisition. As all these calls were made for the safety of the State and such only as her exposed situation imperiously demanded, we trust that the President will have no hesitation to sanction them and order an adjustment in the mode contemplated by the Act of Congress. We respectfully solicit your early attention to this subject and are with due consideration your most Obedient Servants
