

by which it appears that he is greatly mortified & disappointed.
I think I shall write that he is your slave for anything but wishing you were in a situation to give him a dispassionate account of the matter. I think he would not accept his commission without the most explicit assurance from you, whether or not you had better & if you had better to write some letter explanatory of his situation & of the reasons for it.

This day I have written to the General, requesting that he will be so good as to write me a letter, explaining the matter.
I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
W. G. G. G.

to the General, and I shall
be glad to hear from you
in a few days.
I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
W. G. G. G.

to the General, and I shall
be glad to hear from you
in a few days.
I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
W. G. G. G.

to the General, and I shall
be glad to hear from you
in a few days.
I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
W. G. G. G.

to the General, and I shall
be glad to hear from you
in a few days.
I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
W. G. G. G.