

To
Albert J. Emory Esq.
Dept. of the Genl.

State Department
September 28th 1847

Sir

Mr. Drumbrice has called on me for a short delay on the execution of the State against him and upon consultation with the Treasurer I think it will be well to give him such indulgence as will enable you to make the money with certainty by the May term of your Court. You will take care not to release the sureties by your actions upon the subject.

Sir

I will thank you to inform me what proportion of the January Interest payable in London, will be agreed to be received at the Loan Office. In other words I desire to know what amount it will be necessary to transmit to London to meet the January Interest payable there.
