Chestertown Sept. 14. 1864

His Excellency, A. W. Bradford
Governor of Maryland:

My Dear Sir—

I beg leave most respectfully, to call your attention to the proceedings of the late Convention, which assembled at Annapolis to remodel the Constitution or propose a plan of a Constitution for the State. I am now living under the only Constitution of the State in existence, framed and adopted in the year 1551. That Constitution secures to the male inhabitants of the State, over twenty years of age, and resident twelve months in the State and six in the County (or City) in which they may reside, by its first section, the right to vote in the ward or election district in which they reside, in "all elections hereafter to be held."

The Act of the General Assembly, passed on the 3rd February 1864, directed a vote to be taken upon the call of a Convention: if a majority should decide in favor of a call, an election of Delegates was to be held in the manner directed by the Act, which also prescribed an oath to be taken by the challenged voter (of very doubtful legality). The fifth section provides that the form of government prepared by the Convention shall be submitted to the legal & qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection; that the
