

Its disbursements in the same year amounted to $1,207 48, and were on account of
Civil Officers,	637 19
Commission,	11 78
Miscellaneous Expenses,	106 01
Pensions,	40 00
The Judiciary,	412 50
	1,207 48
And it paid into the W. Shore Treasury, 11th of June 1838, the residue of that Treasury's receipts in the past year on account of the E. S. Treasury,	6,517 85
Making		7,725 33
And leaving in the E. Shore Treasury, 1st Dec. 1838, a balance of		$8,003 61

That balance was paid into the Western Shore Treasury on the 10th Dec. 1838, and is included together with the probable receipts of the Eastern Shore Treasury in the first half, and its probable disbursements in the whole, of the current year, in the foregoing estimate for the year.

Its receipts in the other half of the year cannot reach the Western Shore Treasury until the year following.

In obedience to the 4th sec. of ch. 149 of 1824, he has prepared and submits Statement A. and in pursuance of the 2d and 5th sections Statements B. and C.