

C H A P.
XIV.

Such tobacco as aforesaid, shall cause the said inspector or inspectors to pick the same, and shall cause the unmerchantable tobacco therein to be burnt, and for their trouble, the said three planters, who shall be present at such view, shall be paid by the inspector or inspectors, who offered the same in payment, forty pounds of tobacco each; and if the said planters, or any two of them, shall adjudge the tobacco, so offered or tendered in payment, to be merchantable, according to the directions of this act, the said planters, so attending, shall be paid by the party desiring such view, forty pounds of tobacco each as aforesaid; and when any tobacco shall be tendered or offered in payment by any inspector, and refused, the said inspector or inspectors shall not be at liberty to tender or offer in payment, nor the person demanding the same to receive any tobacco in lieu thereof, before such tobacco shall have been viewed as aforesaid, but the person refusing shall immediately mark the same; and if any inspector shall offer or tender in payment any tobacco in lieu of the tobacco so refused, before the same shall have been viewed as aforesaid; or shall not produce the same tobacco so refused to the said viewers, in either case it shall be taken for a conviction, that the tobacco first tendered in payment was bad, unsound, and unmerchantable, and moreover the said inspectors shall forfeit and pay sixteen hundred pounds of tobacco for every such offence, and if the person who shall refuse any hoghead of tobacco as aforesaid shall accept and receive another hoghead of tobacco in lieu of that refused, before such hoghead so refused shall be viewed as aforesaid, he shall forfeit and pay sixteen hundred pounds of tobacco for every hoghead.

Where two inspectors disagree, he who was against passing the tobacco not to make satisfaction, &c.

XXXVI. And be it enacted, That where two inspectors in the same inspection shall disagree as to the quality of any hoghead of tobacco, and that a review shall be required, and such hoghead, or any part thereof, shall be by such reviewers adjudged unmerchantable, or be burnt, agreeable to the directions of this act, that in such case the inspector who was against first passing such tobacco, shall not be burthened with making satisfaction for the same, or any part thereof, but in such case the other inspector, who would have passed the same, and approved thereof, shall be burthened with and make satisfaction for the whole, any thing in this act to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding.

Inspectors not to give notes unless they have received the full quantity, &c.

XXXVII. And be it enacted, That no inspector or inspectors shall hereafter, on any pretence, give out any note or notes for tobacco, unless he or they shall have actually received and passed the full quantity of tobacco for which such note or notes shall be given, under penalty of his or their forfeiting two thousand pounds of tobacco; nor shall any inspector or inspectors give out any crop note or receipt in lieu of transfer tobacco, unless the hoghead of tobacco for which such note or receipt shall be so given out, shall be actually prized, and ready to be delivered for exportation, under the penalty of eight hundred pounds of tobacco for every crop note or receipt so given.

XXXVIII. And, To the intent that the just quantity of tobacco exported may be more exactly known, and all evil practices to evade the payment of duties and customs prevented,
