Penalty for setting mountains on fire, &c.

II. Be it enacted, by the General Assembly of Maryland, That if any person or persons shall set the said mountains, or either of them, or any part of them, on fire, so that the said fire injures the growth of the said young timber, or endangers the farms situate on or adjacent to the said mountains, or either of them, or any part of them, such person or persons shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding fifty pounds current money, to be recovered in the county court of Frederick or Washington county as the case may be, by bill of indictment or action of debt, one half thereof to the person or persons who shall prosecute for the same, the other half to the use of the county, as the case may be; provided always, that nothing therein contained shall be construed to extend to any person or persons setting fire to their own lands on said mountain, or either of them, or any part of them, provided the said fire is not communicated therefrom.
