A Supplementary act to an act to lay out and establish a road from the city of Annapolis to the city of Washington, and to repeal the act therein mentioned.

Preamble.

WHEREAS by a resolve of this general assembly, passed at November session, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-six, commissioners were authorized and empowered to examine the situation of the country between the city of Washington and the city of Annapolis, and ascertain and determine the direction and position of the nearest, most convenient and practicable road that could be laid off between the said two places: And whereas the said commissioners have undertaken and completed the same, and have returned a plot of the said road to the general assembly: And whereas by a law passed at November session, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-eight, Thomas Duckett, Levi Gantt and Jacob Duckett, of Prince-George's county, William Harwood, Leonard Sellman, Edward Hall and James Williams, of Anne-Arundel county, were appointed commissioners, and they, or any four of them, were authorized and empowered to open, clear and grub, the said road: And whereas the said commissioners have made and finished the said road through the county of Anne-Arundel, and that part of the road that passes through Prince-George's county remains unfinished and incomplete, to the great injury and obstruction of passengers and carriages; therefore,

Commissioners to proceed, &c.

II. BE IT ENACTED, by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the said commissioners, as soon as the weather will permit, proceed to the execution of the trust reposed in them, and complete the said road through Prince-George's county, agreeably to the act to which this is a supplement.
