Upper house Assent with Exclusion of the latter Clause —

John Jewellin Esq of Assembly —

Sent to the Lower house by Col: Lowe —

A Message from the Lower house P: Mr: John Rousby and Cap: Sibey who acquaint this house that they are preparing the Engraving the Bill for the Militia according to the sense of their own house now sent up Vizt.

Lower house of Assembly September the 14th 1681.

In answer to the message sent to this house yesterday by Col: Lowe concerning the Amendments in the Bill for Ordering and Regulating the Militia to this house do say —

That they never desired the Upper houses consent to the leaving the words out of the said Bill, intimated in the said Message, it being never voted nor intended by the said house, that they should be put in —

First because they are not the very words of the Vote of the Lower house as is obvious by the word / notwithstanding / intruded into the said Vote, which is a Relative word and as - placed in the said Bill quite subverts the natural sense and intent of the said Vote —

Secondly because the said Vote was only an humble expression of the voluntary and zealous resolution of this house to serve his Lordship against those present dangers that now threaten us from the Northern Indians, and therefore the desire of the upper house to have the said Vote inserted in the said Bill seems too great an imposition on this house and argues us too stupid and insensible of our Privileges, Neither is the said Vote at all necessary for assuring the payment of the charge of the said War, It being sufficiently provided for otherwise by the said Act —

Thirdly because the said Vote was only to serve his Lordship against those Northward Indians aforesaid (if his Lordship shall think fit to make a War against them) and yet beyond the intent and words of the said Vote, We are obliged (as it is placed in the said Bill) in the rigour and strictness of the said
