By order,

H. RIDGELY, cl. sen.

The senate adjourns till 3 o'clock.

P O S T M E R I D I E M.

The senate met.

The bill, entitled, An act for the establishment of select vestries, was read the second time by special order, passed, and sent to the house of delegates by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Esq;

The senate adjourns till to-morrow morning 9 o'clock.

T U E S D A Y, March 23, 1779.

THE senate met. Present the same members as on yesterday. The proceedings of yesterday were read.

Messieurs Sprigg and Bayly, from the house of delegates, deliver to the president the following message:

By the HOUSE of DELEGATES, March 23, 1779.

May it please your honours,

WE are desirous, for many reasons, to bring this session to a conclusion, and have determined if possible to rise on this day. This house propose to adjourn to the last Monday in September next.

By order,

J. DUCKETT, cl. ho. del.

His excellency the governor communicates to the president a letter from the president of congress, enclosing an act of congress for the raising of the deficiencies of the quotas of troops of the several states; which was read, and sent to the house of delegates by Brice T. B. Worthington, Esq;

The following message was sent to the house of delegates by William Hindman, Esq;

By the S E N A T E, March 23, 1779.

Gentlemen,

AS you seem by your message of this morning to be so desirous of bringing the session to a conclusion, we must take leave to remind you, that our message of the 20th instant, by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Esq; remains unanswered; and, as we are equally desirous with yourselves to put an end to the session, we request your speedy answer to that message, that the business may be no longer delayed.

By order,

H. RIDGELY, cl. sen.

Messieurs Carmichael and Strawbridge, from the house of delegates, deliver to the president the following resolution:

By the HOUSE of DELEGATES, March 23, 1779.

RESOLVED, That the governor and the council be authorized and empowered, if they deem it necessary, to discontinue the fitting out the new galley called the Annapolis.

By order,

J. DUCKETT, cl. ho. del.

Which was read and assented to, and sent to the house of delegates by Richard Barnes, Esq; Messieurs Lethbrury and W. Goldsborough, from the house of delegates, deliver to the president the following message and resolution:

By the HOUSE of DELEGATES, March 23, 1779.

May it please your honours,

IN answer to your message of this day by William Hindman, Esq; we have only to observe, that this house are determined to enter into no argument on the subject matter of the supply bill, being to all intents and purposes a money bill. Your messages tend to bring about an alteration or amendment of that bill, the sole framing of which belongs to the house of delegates. Endeavour your affirmative or negative, which ever may be most agreeable to your honours.

By order,

J. DUCKETT, cl. ho. del.

By the HOUSE of DELEGATES, March 22, 1779.

RESOLVED, That the message from the senate of the 20th instant, by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Esq; is an indirect attempt to violate the rights and privileges of this house, who have the
