

VOTES AND PROCEEDINGS, NOVEMBER, 1782. 17

Richard Ridgely, Alexander Furnival, and Samuel Gray, are returned summoned in consequence of the order of Wednesday the 27th of November.

Messieurs Smithson and Holland, from the house of delegates, deliver to the president the following message:

BY THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES, DECEMBER 6, 1782.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS,

THIS house concur with your message by John Henry, Esq; and are of opinion, that the gentlemen chosen delegates to congress ought immediately to be acquainted with their appointment in the mode proposed by your honours.

By order,

W. HARWOOD, clk.

Which was read.

His Excellency the governor communicates to the president a letter from the superintendant of finance; enclosing an extract of a letter from Daniel De Saussure, the commissioner appointed to settle the accounts of this state with the United States; which were read, and sent to the house of delegates by Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Esq;

The order of the day for the consideration of the bill for the relief of John Gray (hatter) was read, and the witnesses not attending, it was postponed till to-morrow morning.

Richard Ridgely communicates to the senate a letter, accompanied with a deposition, requesting the senate to excuse him for not attending as a witness on behalf of Mr. Levy.

The senate adjourns till to-morrow morning.

S A T U R D A Y, December 7, 1782.

THE senate met. Present as on yesterday. The proceedings of yesterday were read.

A letter from Alexander Furnival, directed to David M. Mechen, was laid before the senate, enclosing a deposition of the said Furnival, and requesting the senate to excuse him for not attending as a witness on behalf of Nathan Levy; and also a certificate from Dr. Andrews, that Samuel Gray, one of the other witnesses on behalf of Nathan Levy, is confined to his bed, and therefore not able to attend.

The order of the day, for the consideration of the bill for the relief of John Gray (hatter), being read, and the witnesses not attending, it was further postponed to Wednesday the 18th day of the present month.

ORDERED, That summons issue to procure the attendance of Richard Ridgely, Charles Vashon, Alexander Furnival, and Samuel Gray, to testify on behalf of Nathan Levy.

ORDERED, That John Gray have notice of the day appointed for the consideration of the bill for his relief, and that he has liberty to appear by counsel, and have summons issued for any witnesses he may wish to be present on the consideration of the bill.

In consequence of the above orders, a letter enclosing the order of the senate was sent to Mr. John Gray, and summons issued for the witnesses on behalf of Mr. Levy.

Messieurs Coursey and Wilkinson; from the house of delegates, deliver to the president the following resolutions:

BY THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES, DECEMBER 7, 1782.

RESOLVED, That the lots, dwelling houses, and buildings, in the city of Annapolis; formerly belonging to Sir Robert Eden, and the house and kitchen furniture, household goods, and other property, used and left by him, be put in the possession of his Excellency the governor, to be by him used and enjoyed, until the general assembly shall otherwise direct.

That the governor and the council be requested to direct, from time to time, any repairs to be made to the said dwelling house and other buildings, and the paling of the said lots, as may be necessary to preserve them fit and proper for the residence of the governor.

That the intendant of the revenue be directed to provide and pay into the treasury as much money as the governor and the council may determine to be necessary to make the repairs to the said house and buildings, not exceeding for the present repairs the sum of five hundred pounds current money.

By order,

W. HARWOOD, clk.

Which were read and ordered to lie on the table.

The senate adjourns till Monday morning 9 o'clock.

M O N D A Y, December 9, 1782.

THE same members appeared as on Saturday, except Charles Carroll, Barrister, Esq; who is indisposed.

There not being a sufficient number of members to compose a senate, those present adjourn till to-morrow morning.
