By THE SENATE, JANUARY 14, 1783.

GENTLEMEN,

We have reconsidered and sent you the civil list bill with our assent; you have laid us under the disagreeable necessity either of lengthening the session for some days, at a time when every gentleman expects to rise, or assenting to what we do not approve; we must therefore declare to you, that we shall hereafter adhere closely to our propositions, and have only at this time assented to the bill to prevent the further continuance of the session, or the confusion which would arise from leaving the civil officers without any provision.

By order,

J. MACCUBBIN, clk.

The bill to repeal the taxes imposed and appropriated for the redemption of the two emissions of bills of credit in the years 1780 and 1781, was read the second time and will pass with the proposed amendments.

Amendments proposed. In the first line of the title of the bill after the word "taxes" insert "duties." In the seventh line from the bottom, in the interlineation, strike out the words "payable in tobacco or bills of credit of said emission," and insert the words "and duties" after the word "taxes" in same line.

The bill to continue the acts of assembly therein mentioned, was read the second time and will pass with the proposed amendments.

Amendments proposed. In the second page and first line strike out from the word "force" to the word "to" in the same line, and in the second line of the same page after the word "assembly" strike out to the word "that" in the same line.
