

Mr. Ridgely, from the house of delegates, delivers to the president the following message, with the bill to raise the supplies for the year 1786.

BY THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES, MARCH 2, 1786.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS,

WE received the bill, entitled, An act to raise the supplies for the year 1786, together with your message of this day by Daniel Bowley, Esq; and on consideration thereof, we cannot agree, at this late period of the session, to go into so material an alteration as that which you proposed. Had we no other objection to the amendment than that of time alone, it would with us be conclusive. We have made the amendment proposed in our message by Mr. Goldsborough, and agreed to in yours by Mr. Bowley, and hope that you will pass the bill as it now stands.

By order,

W. HARWOOD, clk.
