BY THE SENATE, DECEMBER 22, 1788.

GENTLEMEN,

WE cannot recede from the amendment proposed to the bill which is intended as a supplement to the act for the more effectual punishment of criminals, which you have rejected. We conceive that the power vested in the justices of oyer and terminer, by the fifteenth section of the original act, more properly belongs to the commissioners of Baltimore-town than to a court of judicature; because the subject of that section is merely of a local nature, and concerns regulations very little connected with the ordinary course of justice. For this reason we are induced to adhere to our amendment, and hope that, on reconsideration, you will adopt it.

By order,

J. DORSEY, clk.

The bill, entitled, An act for the relief of Charles Worthington, of Montgomery county, in the state of Maryland, was read the second time by especial order and will not pass.
