The clerk of the house of delegates returns the bill, entitled, An act for the valuation of real and personal property within this state, with the following message:

By the HOUSE of DELEGATES, January 7, 1810.

Gentlemen of the Senate,

IN reply to your message, relative to the bill, entitled, An act for the valuation of real and personal property within this state, it is conceived proper to observe, that having already stated to your honourable body the motives which have determined us to adhere to the nomination of commissioners of the tax, originally agreed upon by this house as the immediate delegates of the people, we perceive no reason to change our opinion thus deliberately expressed. We must therefore respectfully decline acceding to your amendments to that part of the bill, as well as to that which relates to members of the orphans court, and are induced to return the bill again.
