T H U R S D A Y, December 6, 1810.

THE senate met. Present the same members as on yesterday. The proceedings of yesterday were read. Mr. Gibson appeared in the senate.

The clerk of the house of delegates delivers a bill, entitled, An act to incorporate the stockholders of the Franklin Bank of Baltimore, passed by that house December 5, 1810; a bill, entitled, An act for the relief of Horatio Clagett, of Charles county, passed by that house December 6, 1810; which were severally read the first time and ordered to lie on the table. Also returns the bill, entitled, An act to reduce the per diem of the judges and clerks of elections in Allegany county, with the following message:
By the HOUSE of DELEGATES, December 5, 1810.

Gentlemen of the Senate,

We have returned you the bill, entitled, An act to reduce the per diem of the judges and clerks of elections in Allegany county. In the other counties of this state, where there are a great number of votes in the county, or the county divided into a small number of districts the present per diem of the judges and clerks of elections may not be more than a compensation for their services, but in Allegany county, which from its extent has been divided into six election districts, averaging not more than one hundred and fifty votes in each district, where the price of living is cheap, and where the taxes, which are already much higher than in any other county in the state, and which must necessarily be increased by the late high water taking away their bridges, rendering it necessary for them to be parsimonious in their public expenditures, the present per diem of the judges and clerks of elections is considered too high.

The delegation from that county, and nearly the whole of the people, whom we consider the best judges of what ought to be a compensation to the judges and clerks of election for their services, being in favour of a reduction of the present per diem, we hope, upon reconsideration, you will pass the bill.
By order, J. BREWER, clk.

Which was read.

The resolution in favour of Gassaway Watkins, was read the second time, and the question put, Will the senate assent thereto? The yeas and nays being required, appeared as follow:
