

On motion of Mr. Dennis, the following amendment was read:

At the end of the bill add the following section:

'And be it enacted, That this act shall have no force unless unanimously adopted by the corporators.'

The question was put,

'Will the senate assent to the said amendment?'

And it was determined in the negative.

The bill was then read through,

And on motion of Mr. Pigman, the following amendment was read:

After the enacting clause strike out all the bill and insert as follows:

'That the said original act so on file as aforesaid, or a copy of the same, certified and attested by the clerks of the two houses of the legislature, shall be received as conclusive evidence in all courts of justice, and in all cases whatsoever in which it may be necessary to enquire into the charter of said company, and the rights of parties therein or claiming thereunder.'

A division of the question having been asked for,

The question was put,

'Will the senate agree to strike out as proposed?'

And it was determined in the affirmative.

The question was then put,

'Will the senate agree to insert as proposed?'

And it was determined in the affirmative.

On motion of Mr. Pigman, the following amendment was read and assented to:

Strike out the preamble of the bill and insert the following:

'Whereas it clearly appears to this legislature by the original act which passed both houses, and is now on file in the senate chamber, that an error was made in engrossing the act passed at December session eighteen hundred and thirty, chapter seventy one, entitled, an act to incorporate the Warren Manufacturing company, in omitting the word 'share' after the word 'each' in the sixth section of the said act, where the right of voting for the president and directors of said company is prescribed; And whereas doubts may be entertained whether the said original act can be received in evidence of the charter of said company, and therefore
