

with his brother Downe, that he would take him out of office, & that he did bring into the Court with him now but when he and Rogers, in Bridewell some from the way at the Court the Whipping post: & then paying to the Chinor he said and then with the suspended, where of them all this further he said that her oath was false and malicious, he made no question but he gave her perjured & gave her many other evil things

Downe said aged 26 years or thereabouts openly that in all open Court held at London the 16th day of June 1643 he heard John Barber say that he took his wife and son. Downe said he took his wife and son. Downe said they were never being demanded whether he would he answered he would take his oath upon it if said it was very true for he immediately was Downe for it, there was none but the name of Downe that he brought in to just as were brought out of Bridewell Downe, who of she was the most impudent lest further say the Court
