Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, Esq; from the senate, delivers to Mr. Speaker the journal of accounts, endorsed; "By the senate, January 20, 1782: Read and assented to.

"By order, J. MACCUBBIN, clk."

And the bill to appoint an intendant of the revenue, &c. endorsed; "By the senate, January 18, 1782: Read the first time and ordered to lie on the table.

"By order, J. MACCUBBIN, clk."

"By the senate, January 20, 1782: Read the second time and will pass with the proposed amendments.

"By order, J. MACCUBBIN, clk."

Amendments. In the fifteenth line and second page, strike out the words "and their receipts of the public monies and tobaccoes payable to him." In the seventeenth line and second page, strike out the words "and the auditor," and after the word "direct" strike out the word "him" and insert "the auditor." In the eighth line from the bottom of the second page, strike out from the word "and" to the word "public" inclusive, in the fourth line from the bottom. In the sixth line of third page, strike out the words "in all matters relative to their office." In the eighth line of same page, strike out from the word "treasurer" to the word "and" in the twelfth line.

Which amendments were read. The first and second amendments, being severally read the second time, were agreed to; the third amendment was read and rejected; the fourth and fifth were severally read and agreed to; and thereupon the following message was prepared, and sent to the senate, with the bill to appoint an intendant, &c. by Mr. Bayly and Mr. Brogden.

BY THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES, JANUARY 20, 1782.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOURS,

WE have agreed to all the amendments proposed to the bill to appoint an intendant of the revenue and all public monies, except your proposal to strike out the part which directs the orders on the treasury by the governor and council to be countersigned by the intendant, and empowers him to reject or curtail any account passed in the auditor's office; we esteem this power so essential, that we cannot receive the bill unless it be agreed to by your honours. We have returned the bill, and flatter ourselves that your honours will wave an amendment, which alone will prevent the passing of a law we esteem proper and necessary.

By order, F. GREEN, clk.

The house proceeded on the bill to settle and pay the civil list, and the question was put, That the messenger to the council be allowed one hundred and twenty-five pounds per annum? Resolved in the affirmative.

John Smith, Esq; from the senate, delivers to Mr. Speaker the bill for an addition to Baltimore-town, and the bill for the relief of Martin Bulger, severally endorsed; "By the senate, January 20, 1782: Read the first time and ordered to lie on the table.

"By order, J. MACCUBBIN, clk."

"By the senate, January 20, 1782: Read the second time by especial order and will pass.

"By order, J. MACCUBBIN, clk."

Which were ordered to be engrossed.

The engrossed bill No. 23, with the paper bill thereof. The resolution relative to John Par-ran, endorsed; "By the senate, January 20, 1782: Read and assented to.

"By order, J. MACCUBBIN, clk."

And, the bill to regulate the militia; with the following message:

BY THE SENATE, JANUARY 20, 1782.

GENTLEMEN,

WE did not suppose that our amendment to the bill to regulate the militia would prevent the governor commanding the militia, with the advice of the council, but would exempt him from common militia duty; but as we presume this will not be required of him, and the governor has not been exempt by former laws, we agree to recede from our amendment so far as respects the exemption.
