The following message.

By THE SENATE, DECEMBER 19, 1796.

GENTLEMEN,
WE have rejected the resolution in favour of Basil Williams. By examining the proper officers, we think it will be more proper to take up the consideration of this subject at the next session of assembly. We are informed that a suit is now depending upon a bond of Clement Sewall, and others, assigned the state by Basil Williams. If the sum mentioned in the bond is not recovered, it would be nugatory to pass the credit proposed, as a large sum would remain due the state from Patrick Hamilton. We find that the securities are not liable to be put to any inconvenience before the next session of assembly, and that probably they could not give the security required, which at present would appear necessary, because if the account liquidated against Christie's estate should have been assigned by Patrick Hamilton, the assignee would, upon application, receive the amount from our treasury, notwithstanding the credit proposed being passed. All these difficulties may probably cease by the next session of assembly.

By order, A. VAN-HORN, clk.

Which was read.

The bill to empower the justices of the levy court of Charles county to assess and levy annually a sum of money for the purpose therein mentioned, endorsed; "By the senate, November 30, 1796: Read the first time and ordered to lie on the table.

"By the senate, December 19, 1796: Read the second time and will pass. A. VAN-HORN, clk.
