

On motion, the question was put, That the following be inserted after the 38th rule, viz. "That no terms expressed in a foreign language shall be admitted into the acts of the general assembly of this state?" Determined in the negative.

The question was then put, That the house concur with said report? Resolved in the affirmative.

On motion, by Mr. Schley, Leave given to bring in a bill, entitled, An act to make the final discharge of executors, administrators and guardians, matter of record. ORDERED, That Mr. Schley, Mr. J. H. Thomas, Mr. Davis, Mr. Bland and Mr. Baer, be a committee to prepare and bring in the same.

On motion, by Mr. Brent, the following resolutions were read:

WHEREAS certain resolutions were entered into by the "House of Delegates" of the General Assembly of Maryland, at the last November session, the object of which, was to impress a belief upon the public mind, that the citizens of the state of Maryland viewed the act passed by Congress "imposing an embargo, and the several acts supplementary thereto, as constituting a portentous system of unnecessary, impolitic and unprecedented restraint upon the foreign trade and domestic intercourse of these United States;" and also directing "the senators and representatives from this state, in the Congress of the United States, to exert themselves with all convenient diligence in endeavours to procure a speedy relief from the operation of the aforesaid act, and the several acts supplementary thereto:" And whereas "the public will" has been lately expressed by "the public voice itself" in the election for the immediate representative branch of this legislature, so as to leave no doubt, what the real, true and unveiled sentiments of the people of Maryland are, relative to that important and politic measure of our government, so far as their sentiments at this time can be ascertained by their supporting a policy of a similar nature, and by their electing, as members of this body, men who were the warm advocates and active friends of every leading measure of the late administration: And whereas the late "public voice" has shewn, conclusively, to every unprejudiced and impartial mind, that the success so much boasted of, in the said resolutions, by the majority of the late "house of delegates," must have proceeded from the many misrepresentations and deceptions made and used to deceive and ensnare the unguarded voter, and not from any real change in the political tenets of the state: And whereas to correct and counteract the false impressions which may have been made upon the public mind by the proceedings of the majority in the "house of delegates," at their last November session, touching a measure so extensively interesting to the whole American people, and in order to remove the unfavourable opinion of the politics of this state, which the false colouring of the majority in the last "house of delegates" may have created in our sister states, it is a duty which the members of the present assembly owe to their country, their constituents and themselves, to express a true and solemn declaration of their sentiments, as to the measures of the late and present administrations of the general government, and to set forth those feelings of unqualified disapprobation which the said resolutions have excited; therefore RESOLVED, That it is the conscientious belief, and unbiassed conviction, of this legislature, representing the interests and speaking the sentiments of the Independent Freemen of Maryland, that the aforesaid act imposing an embargo, and the several acts supplementary thereto, were wise, efficient and dignified measures, rendered indispensably necessary, by the unjust and illegal proceedings of the belligerents of Europe, and the convulsed and unprecedented state of the world, as the only adviseable alternatives between a destructive and calamitous war, and the humiliating surrender of our National Honour and Independence; that the many evils which were stated to have flowed from the adoption of the said embargo, and the gloomy picture of its consequences, portrayed by the aforesaid resolutions, were contrary to the good opinion, and to the general sentiments of a large majority of the free and independent voters of this state; that so far from proscribing and spiritting away "the existence of commercial enterprise," it must be obvious to every reflecting and dispassionate mind, that the object of our government was to secure it ultimately to the citizens of these United States, by contending for principles, and demanding acknowledgments of those just rights, without which our commerce will always be precarious and exposed; that the very policy, so much censured, protected and promoted the interests of our country, by withdrawing from the rapacious and piratical plunderers of the ocean, our property to an immense and incalculable amount, by rescuing from seizure and bondage our "brave and hardy tars," by diverting a portion of our wealth and attention to the establishment of those manufactories, which are necessary to our subsistence, essential to our independence, and which have in the short lapse of two years, succeeded to an extent surpassing the most sanguine calculations of the many honest, ingenious and industrious mechanics, with which the United States abound; that the "jealousies," and "discontent, distrust, suspicion and alarm," and the violation of "the sovereignty of the laws," may with more correctness be attributed to the opponents of the late administration, who have united into one body, and particularly to their leaders, who by their feigned and uniform disapprobation of every measure pursued by the late administration, however wise and virtuous, have shewn and evinced a determination not to "sheath the sword of opposition" until it had reached its destruction and overthrow, and that their opposition has been aided by the specious misrepresentations and insidious exertions of the friends of the great belligerents of Europe, and by the conduct of artful and designing men, who seek their own aggrandizement through the distresses of their fellow-citizens and the commotions of their native country; that the insolent boastings of the British ministry originated not so much from a disregard of the operation of the embargo, as from a confident hope of its speedy removal, and a desire to promote the success, to further the views, and to verify the predictions of that party in this country, which it conceived most compliant to its wishes, and most friendly to its interests; that the adoption of the said resolutions by a
