Mr. Dorsey moved farther to amend said bill by adding at the end thereof, as an additional section, the following,

“And be it enacted, That if the said corporation shall fail to comply with its engagements and become insolvent, that the officers of said corporation shall make distribution of its assets among the creditors of said institution pro rata;”

The said bill was then read the second time as amended, passed and sent to the senate.

The Clerk of the Senate delivered the following message,

By the Senate,
January 13th, 1835.

Gentlemen of the House of Delegates,

We respectfully ask leave to refer to the consideration of your honorable body, the memorial of the trustees and visitors of the Maryland Hospital, with the view of suggesting the propriety of the appointment of a committee of your honorable body, and of the senate, that they may examine into the condition, and learn the wants of the Maryland Hospital, and thereby ascertain how far it is capable of performing or has realised the past expectations of the public, so that such legislation may ensue, as is calculated to correct any defects (if they exist) in its present organization, and extend to it that measure of aid which an enlightened and humane policy may dictate, consistent with the ability of the State. We have appointed Messrs. Morris, Emory, and Pigman, to compose the committee on the part of the senate.

By order,

J. H. Nicholson, Cl'k.
