So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. Duckett, then moved to amend said bill by adding at the end of the 7th section thereof the following.

“And it shall be the duty of the Attorney General to examine into the manner in which the monies heretofore advanced to the said Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company, in virtue of the act of December session, 1834, chapter 241, have been applied; and if it shall appear to him that the said monies, or any part thereof, have been applied to any purpose or purposes not authorised by said act, it shall be his duty forthwith to institute proceedings at law or in equity, against the said company, its President and Directors, or such of them as shall appear to have advised or sanctioned such misapplication, for the purpose of compelling the said President and Directors, in their individual capacity, to refund to this State the sum or sums of money so improperly applied or expended by them. And the sum or sums of money which shall or may be recovered as aforesaid, shall be and the same are hereby pledged and set a-
