

you of course thought they had collected a number of the effects, which they had demanded, and left on the point of the frigate's side, with intention to set fire to them, but a high Tide floated them off, and they were driven on Shore near our Guard, who have taken possession of them, and have found sundry goods and other effects on board to the value of three or four hundred Pounds currency; and of the Dutch's magazine repaired, and made fit for service.
They hunt for the small vessels, and from appearance we expect they are gone down, the Capt. our Pet. Boat is just returned yesterday evening and says he heard at Georgetown, that the man of war had stop in Hampton Road, and ^{was} making demands of fresh provisions and water, and promised, on being supplied, to leave the Bay - The Defectors, of whom many have come over to us, inform that the Foy's families are going, some to their West Indies - others to Halifax, and the rest to New-York - The Flying camp are beginning to move, Capt.
Good's company from Barb. will be with you by the Time this comes to hand, and Col. Ch. Greenly Griffith with the remainder of the Tricolour Battalion will follow him in a few days - Col. Griffith appears
