

it incapable of Amendment ; on the contrary, I am sensible that few such Projections are perfect at first Attempt : It would therefore be of Service to the Country, if any Gentleman discovers any Defect herein, or can form a more advantageous Scheme, that he would with the same Freedom communicate his Thoughts to the Publick, and correct what may be a miss here ; which would be so far from giving any Regretment to the Author of this Piece, that on the contrary, he desires it, and would be thankful to them, and willingly submit to any real Amendment which can be proposed : And, as he does not doubt your Readiness to Publish these Thoughts, so he is persuaded, you will, with the same Readiness, make Publick those of another, on the same Occasion ; whereby the Country may perhaps receive some Benefit, which is the only View of a Well-Wisher to it, And

Your humble Servant,

Nov. 19.
1726.

A Lover of his Country.

---

Advertisement.

There is now in the Press, and is proposed to be Publish'd in March next,

A Compleat Body of the Laws of Maryland, in Force, from its first Settlement to the Year 1727, well Bound.

All Persons who intend to have the said Books, and have not yet Subscrib'd for them, are desired to be speedy in sending their Names, and Places of Abode, to William Parks, Printer, in Annapolis. The Price to Subscribers is Twenty Four Shillings Currency : But to those who do not Subscribe, they will not be Sold so Cheap, if there should be any left after the Subscribers are serv'd.