I saw there."

After this, the Protestants who had got the upper hand in this city occupied it for a time, as they did also several other of the most important churches of the city; but after one of the severest, cruelest, bloodiest persecutions the world has ever seen, by the Inquisition and the Spanish power, instigated by the Pope, they were put down, and every vistage of evangelical religion was crushed out and destroyed, and Romanism established as the only religion that could be tolerated here.

The rum power seems to destroy every vestige of honor in the human breast.

The most gigantic frauds the world ever knew are daily perpetrated by the liquor traffic, by wicked adulterations, fraudulent returns, elicit trade, and almost every abomination known to modern diabolism abonination known to modern diabolism on earth. Some most fearful illustrations of this point were presented. The whiskey influence naturally damages our civil prosperity. It withholds truthful returns of its lawless gains, and refuses to pay righteous taxation. The total present value of the railroads of this country is $1,654,050,799, exceeding the annual cost of liquor drank by less than the worth of the railroads in the single State of Pennsylvania. roads in the single State of Pennsylvania. It affects deleteriously every important civil interest of the country, productions, expenditure, taxation, pauperism, prostitution, peace of the streets, repression of crime, protection of person and property, interests of labor, purity of the ballot, and the success, if not the very existence, of republican government. This wicked influence is made more potent by the excessive gains of the cruel traders, who "toil not neither do they spin, and yet Solomon.

net, neither do they spin, and yet Solomon, in all his glory, was not arrayed like one of The system of ruin ignores man's respon-The system of ruin geners man is responsibility to God, and annihilates his hopes of salvation. This point was sufficiently demonstrated by two passages of Scripture, viz: "No drunkard shall inherit eternal life," and "Woo to him who putteth the bottle to his brother's lips."

bottle to his brother's lips."

Total abstinence was exhibited as the most important plank in the platform of reform. No one can be safe if he indulges at all, and none can hope to be rescued from drunkenness by any other process. The per se sin of a single glass of wine was presented showing that the first stantangers. presented, showing that the first slep towards ruin is as guilty as the last one, that lands us where hope and mercy can never come.

The use of mild wines in social circles was shown to be the prolific primary department of the grade of vicious schooling which leads to downright dissipation and drunkenness.

A lady teacher, who has been employed teaching colored schools in the South, gives, in the Krangelist, some amusing accounts of her experience among her African pupils. While some of the incidents, evincing the quaint humor of the colored race, will, doubtless, provoke a smile, we are sure that all our readers will sympathize camestly with the struggle that down-trodden race is now making to rise above their ignorance and degraded condition:

"Aunt Chloe Fisher stands out in full view—seventy-five or eighty years old, but would build 143,349 churches, at a cost of 10,000 cach. The traflic so far blinds the members of the Christian Churches of our land that they deposit annually one million of votes for candidates for responsible offices who use their political and moral influence to perpetuate the system. The Church holds the balance of power in this respect, and if her million of votes could be held as one vote over the heads of politicians, to be deposited for God and temperance, to elevate the best men to office, our last victory would soon be achieved.

The rum power dishonors and overthrows our domestic relations. The Lord has set us up in families, the better to meet and discharge the commanding duties of life. The liquor system impoverishes, embitters and ruthlessly murders all the endearing ties of home. The money that ought to go to make our homes in the United States comfortable and happy is expended for intoxicating drinks annually to the amount intoxicating drinks annually to the amount is company with a little son and a devence of the command a discretization of the plotat the outset, in company with a little son and a supercours areary. set, in company with a little son and a loquacious parrot. the country, or about $600 to each destitute family. Thus we have an easy remedy provided for the poverty of a nation. While the foregoing fearful sum of money is worse than wasted every year in the liquor business, we find the value of six leading productions of the United States—flour, meal, cotton goods, boots and shoes, clothing, woollen goods, boots and shoes, clothing, woollen goods, boots and shoes, clothing, woollen goods, boots and since papers—to be only $610,000,000. See what a mighty margin rum again has in this direction, by which to sow the seeds of discounfort and discord in family circles. This point was further enforced by the irresistable logic of illustrations and figures drawn from real life.

The rum power was also shown to be subversive of individual character and business success. Character was presented as making a place where a million people may under the speaker's notice.

The rum power is utterly destructive of physical development and health. Reliable medical authority was quoted to show the poisonous nature of alcohol in the human stomach. Formulas for the manufacture of spurious liquors, such as is generally retailed in drinking saloons.

It is found by Mr. Stanley Jevons, from actual experiment, that the most useful effects of any exertion of the human frame are obtained by what we at first view consider the least useful; and it is well that these valuable facts should be made widely known, because employers of labor desire and use means to obtain an opposite result. a time, as they did also several other of the most important churches of the city but after one of the everest, cruelest, bloodiest persecutions the world has ever seen, by the Inquisition and the Spanish power, instigated by the Pope, they were put down, and every vistage of evangelical religion was crushed out and destroyed, and Romanism established as the only religion that could be tolerated here.

Again, in the French Revolution, which swept over Belgium in the latter part of the last century, this cathedral suffered great damage at the hands of the Jacobins, in common with all the churches throughout this region. But when Napoleon Bonaparte came into power, he restored it in part, but carried away, as he did everywhere throughout Europe, all the choicest works of art he could lay his hands on.—But many of these has since been returned. The cathedral has recently been very exter sively repaired and renovated, so that now, more than four centuries old, it shows ro signs of weaknes nor of speedy
