Fattening pigs in a cornfield will not pay in the East. Beyond the supply of the home market we shall have to give up these things, for the very satisfactory reason that other people can raise them cheaper and undersell us. But there are some farm products in which we can beat the West. The dairy interest can be indefinitely expanded with profit.—Milk is wanted fresh every day in all our cities and large towns at paying prices.— Milk is wanted fresh every day in all our cities and large towns at paying prices.—Condensed milk, brought from more remote regions, has not depressed the price very much, and probably cannot. Fresh milk, distributed from the milk-cart every morning, costs the consumer in country villages an average of 8 cents a quart the year round. This pays the producer. Butter has been about 40 cents a pound by the season, and in winter about 50 cents in the learne regions. Cheese has borne a corressame regions. Bone Meal for Cows.—We have never known cattle which had a plentiful supply of bone meal to be attacked with murrain. Young and growing animals are very fond of it. Calves will gladly lap it from the hand. There is no danger in feeding it; cows will eat what they require, and no more. Those that do not need it will not touch it. Dairymen would do well to f.ed this article to cows, since they are called upon to supply a considerable quantity in their milk and in the production of their young. There is a difference between milch cows and oxen in their appetite for bones. We have never seen or heard of an ox picking up and trying to chew a refuse bone, whilst with milch cows it was quite common.

and the grass roots died soon after planting. If the seasons had been alike I could have satisfied myself. But I shall try the experiments again the coming spring.

I tried another experiment on plowing under the stubble after the wheat was taken grew much better and faster than the other piece, and was much easier tended. Conclusion: The first plowing was done while the weeds were green and seeds not ripe enough to grow, and the weeds had more nourishment for the ground; while the last plowing was after the weeds were dead, seeds ripe, rad being turned under in the fall were turned back in the spring and were ready to grow immediately, consequently were hard to keeg down in tending the corn, and poisoning the ground.—Result: The first piece turned off six acres of it, (as one acre drowned and was planted late the second time, and was not counted of it, (as one acre drowned and was planted late the second time, and was not counted in the measurement,) 340 bushels; while the other turned off but 240 bushels, and not so good corn. I have tried this experiment but once, and I may not have arrived at the right conclusion. I would like to hear from some of our brother farmers who have tried the experiment. I believe this an important matter for our consideration.—Germantown Telegraph. BONE MEAL FOR COWS .- We have never may 14, 1870—st Crawford & Terry. Good News for Housekeepers. Whitewashing Superseded!

To invent a substance which would supersele the old style of Whitewashing, has long been the aim of the subscriber, and a wish often expressed by housekeepers. That desideratum has at last been obtained, and it affords the inventor much pleasure that he can supply the public with a substitute, which, while it has all the good qualities of Linc, has none of its objectionable features.
