George Mahan has sold his large cart horse to a Philadelphia gentleman, for $250. If the purchaser is satisfied, George certainly ought to be. Prof. Reardon has quite a number of horses at his stables, in Elkton. Mr. Samuel B. Foard, Jr., lost his trotting horse, Roaring Lion, on Monday night last. He had driven him to Sassafras Neck and back that day, and on going to the stable next morning, found him dead. As he had been fed on corn, it is supposed he died of colic. He was valued at $700. The first thunder storm of the season visited us on Tuesday night last, between 10 and 12 o'clock. The thunder was light, the lightning vivid, and the fall of rain pretty heavy for awhile. The rain turned into hail, which fell thick and fast for about three-quarters of an hour, which considerably cooled the atmosphere. The hail was heavier north of us, but we believe it did not extend far enough south to damage the peach crop. This pleasant weather has set to work those persons contemplating improvements. The old library building, attached to the house of Mrs. Ellis, on Main street, has been torn down, and a two-story addition is to be built. W. K. He was in a wagon, and was just about to cross the track when the freight going north, passed up. This frightened his horse, and his attention was engaged in managing the animal. As soon as the freight passed, he started across, not seeing the express train, on the other track, going south, which was right upon him. The locomotive struck the hind wheels of the wagon, demolishing the vehicle, and throwing Mr. McGrady out, bruising him considerably. As soon as the train could be chocked, it came back, fearing it had killed the man. This is a very dangerous crossing, and persons cannot be too careful, when having to pass over it.

CONSUMPTION. ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE. BY J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indeputably proven means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted DR. JOSEPH H. SCHENCICS SIMPLE and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines they would not have failen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickeused into health ful vigor.
In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. He philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-counting, affectively disorders il ivertow evapons with which the citeded of the malaly is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dysepsia and a functionally disorders liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in with all its distressing symptoms of CONSUMPTION.

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND." The work of cure is now beginning. The vitlated an inucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentar canal are ejected. The liver like a clock is wound upper larouses from its tory-lity. The shounch acts repositely, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting
