There was a large concourse of persons present from all parts of the circuit. The company were treated to some excellent music, both vocal and instrumental. Prof. Harry Sanders, of Baltimore, presided at the organ. Prof. J. G. Robinson furnished some choice gems on the clarionet. Everything passed off delightfully. Many of the Parson's friends embraced the opportunity to furnish his pantry with supplies of good things to eat.

Accidents.-On Monday morning of last week, Harry, a little five year old son of A. Evans Taylor, of Elkton was severely cut on the head, by a piece of iron. It appears that the little fellow was passing along the street, when he saw a boy-son of Mr. J. W. Draper, of this town-twirling a piece of iron, attached to a string, through the air, when he very naturally stopped to look at him. While thus gaz ing at the boy with the iron, the string gave way, and the iron struck the liltle fellow in the forehead, inflicting a severe

Honor to a Maryland Boy .- At the recent Considencement of the Central High School, of Philadelphia, Mr. Robert N. Simpers, son of Rev. T. W. Simpers, a native of this county, whose itinerant ministry causes frequent changes of residence, was chosen to deliver the Valedictory, an honor conferred usually upon the graduate who has most distinguished himself in scholastic attainments, and earned the first honors of his class and school. The Valedictory is published at length in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, of July 6th, and would doubtless gratify the numerous relatives and friends, of Master Simpers, in this the United States, Ireland, Scotland, Auscounty, to have it republished in The Whig, but the crowded condition of our columns with matters more immediately local, overrules our wish to yield to that desire.

CONSUMPTION. ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE.

Many a human being has passed away, for whoseath there was no other reason than the neglect tomown and full-putably proven means of cure. Dr. Schenck has in his own case proved that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into health full viter. and his directions for their use, is quickened into heatm-ful vigor.

In the statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the ture by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requiremonargument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing. The Sea-weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citated of the malady is assailed. Twelstick of the cases of consumption originate in dyspension of a functionally disordered literation of the liter. Iteration of the liter approximation the brought tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbide action of the liter. Here then comes the culminating result, and the acting in with all its distressing symptoms of CONSUMPTION. The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blook-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND." The work of cure is now beginning. The viliate mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimet canal are ejected. The liter like a clock is wound it arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts resirely, and the patient begins to feel that he is get at last

A Supply of Good Blood:

A Supply of Good Blood:

The Sexweel Toule, in conjuction with the Pilla, permeates and assimilates with the fool. Chylification is more progressing without its previous fortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be as thank. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite set in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier every yet given by an intulgent Father to suffering man. Schenck's Palmonic Symp comes to to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot, be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased performs of the lungs, in the form of gatherings it prepares them for experientials, and lot in a very short time the madaly is vaniquishel, the rotten throw if occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained signs steps forth to enjoy the manhood of womanhood that was GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented, or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must wak about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to get.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

'Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to ray bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man carching at straws, I heard of and obtaining the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripped the matter on my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of eff-miss yellow matter every morning for a long time.

"As soon as that began to subside, my cough, feer, pain and night swarts all began to leave me, and my arrength and have grown in field ever since.

"As we weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then booking like a mere skeleton, my weight was only interpreted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Roston. Hear his every Saturday, from Os A.M. of F.M. Hose who wish a creating of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Fills are to be taken in increased dones; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First creats appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows; the cough loosens, the night sweat is absted. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. S. benck's medicines are constantly lept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Fills are a standard preparation; while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a curer of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a trophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.
