Mr. Adam Drayt, of New Castle county Delaware, sent to our office last week four sweet potatoes all attached to one stem or root. The cluster weighed four pounds, and was of the "Delaware Red" variety, a very prolific species, but hardly equal to the rich yellow variety in dryness and sweetness.

The vine from which this cluster of potatoes was taken, was planted the 10th of June.

A friend sends us a fair sized turnip beet, from North East, which was raised on the ground of Mr. Gordon Harry. The beet weighs 8 1/2 lbs. It looks to us like it had a mixture of the mangel, or sugar beet, which are a very large species.

Indecent Exposure.—Two young gentlemen, on their way to the recent Democratic Convention, at Elkton, met with an accident by the horse they were driving, falling while crossing a creek. One of the gentlemen stripped to the waist, and in relief of the crowd, was in and relieved the horse. It is suggested by a correspondent that a presentation be made to the Grand Jury, for indecent exposure of person on the public highway. That body will doubtless inquire into the matter.

A Victim to the Confidence Game.—In the Philadelphia Inquirer of the 8th inst, we find the following: Mr. William H. Kirk is the name of a young man, who has been taken to Philadelphia yesterday morning, and was to take passage in the afternoon upon one of the Erie Railroad cars, for the neighborhood of two o'clock he encountered a stranger, who seated on a log, was disconcerted in angry tones about the inconvenience of having to wait so long for the boat to start. He also appeared to be very much exercised over the fact that a boy who promised to carry his valise to the landing had failed to put in appearance.

Mr. Kirk joined in conversation with the man and soon they were talking in the most friendly manner. Stranger wanted him to take a walk up Walnut street, promising that he would return in time for the departure of the boat.

On the way up the street the new-made friend said something about having a bill to settle, and on Walnut street, near Second, he approached a man standing on the steps of a building only a few doors from the corner, and said, "I have a bill for you to pay me." To this the man, whom we shall call Swindler No. 2, answered, "Yes, No. 1, putting his hand in his pocket, remarked, "The bill is $20, but I am sorry, as I have only gold about me, some $50 in all—and a check for $350." Swindler No. 2, thought he could get the check cashed, and looking about him, saw a man standing on the steps a few doors below. This individual proved to be Swindler No. 3. He was accosted by No. 2, who requested him to cash the check. No. 2, went in a light to the bank, and returned with a roll of notes in his hand.

He expressed regret at not having a sufficient amount to pay the check, and said, "I will walk up Walnut street, promising that he would return in time for the departure of the boat."

PILOT TOWN ITEMS.

Fire.—Mr. Day Woods, of Fulton Wp., Lancaster Co., had his barn burned on Thursday night, 6th inst. Three valuable horses and a calf were burned, also about fifty tons of hay and 300 bushels of oats.—Loss about $3,500. Insurance $2,500.

Removal.—Mr. William Porter has removed from his farm, near Howlands, to Baltimore. Mr. Alpheus Crowthers takes possession of the farm in October, as superintendent of Mr. Porter.

Sabbath School.—The Harmony Sabbath School will hold their annual celebration to-day, in Dr. Howlands' woods.

Crops.—The corn has matured two weeks earlier than usual, and looks very fine.—Potatoes are very large and the crop heavy. Buckwheat looks well.

There will be a special meeting of the Orphans' Court on Tuesday next.

A Card.—Editor of THE CECEL WHIG:—Not even the dirty contemplative articles in THE CECEL WHIG of last week could so ungenerally tempt me to notice such an ungenerally unkind, but that it is not the first or second or third time the editor has thus put up a monkey. Last year Mr. G. (I—I) with fire, holds calls for a reply. The editor therein that the editor of THE CECEL WHIG is himself compelled "to go to the bottom of the matter" and "to see whether it is this or other reasons that causes this almost constant personality, I know not. I am certain that if he had not seen our Countryman with "an eye single" he would have known that I was not a candidate; and if the man of color had voted for me I should not have considered it a disgrace, but as much an honor as though the gentlemen himself had voted for me.

This has been written with no ill-feeling; but simply because I want it understood that in the future I will send any similar article to the editor of THE CECEL WHIG, and personally responsible for the same. J. E. WILSON.

The "Round Top" Peach Farm.

We had occasion last week, to visit this celebrated peach farm, situated immediately on Clester River, on the Queen Anne's side, about five miles from Chestertown, and the same distance from Crumpton.—This farm contains 1013 acres, all of which are in peach trees, except a small portion of woods, about 14 acres, we think. It extends along the river for 14 miles, and is about a mile in width. The peach trees were purchased nine years ago, by Messrs. C. P. Morton and John Harris, of Philadelphia, for $14 per acre, and was at that time, in a very unimproved condition. Messrs. Harris and Co. immediately commenced the raising of peach trees, and soon thereafter went into the canning business, since which time hundreds of thousands of cans have been put up annually. Last year Mr. Harris purchased the interest of Mr. Morton in the farm, the latter being in bad health, at $74 per acre. This year Mr. H. has received the credit of the sale of the establishment, having erected a number of additional buildings, and supplied new machinery. At the time of our visit Mr. Harris informed us that he had between 600 and 700 hands employed about two-thirds of whom are women and girls. Principally white, and who come from Philadelphia and Baltimore. These girls get 15 cents for picking, and 10 cents for packing the fruit, and make from $5 to $10 a week.—Some of them present a very neat and tidy appearance, but most of them seem indifferently dressed and careless about their apparel.—Mr. Harris keeps a large and clean boarding-house, with sleeping apartments and bedding, for which he charges $2 a week. The women and girls, who are engaged in the business, engaged in the manufacture of cans, &c., and, of course, receive much higher wages than they would otherwise receive.

The daily work is from 5,000 to 3,000 two pound cans, which range in price, according to the fluctuation of the market, at $1.25 to $2.25 per case or dozen. The daily expenses are about $1200, on an average, and continue for about six weeks. The quantity expected to be put up this year will be about 2,000,000 cans. As an idea of the heavy expenses of conducting this business, Mr. Harris informed us that on the 3rd day of August last, he paid for cans, tin and solder, the sum of $34,000.

The manner of canning is to make a syrup composed of 12 lbs. of sugar to a gallon of water; keep syrup boiling; put fruit in can; pour in syrup; solder up tight; then boil the cans for a certain length of time, but how long is reversed as one of the secrets of the establishment, which Mr. Harris considered prudent to keep from the knowledge of interviewers.

There is also on the premises a distillery of peach brandy, in which the parings of peaches are used, having a capacity of producing about 100 gallons in twenty-four hours.

We have given but a hasty and imperfect sketch of this establishment, not having time upon the occasion of our visit to take any extended notes.—Centreville Citizen.

THE PHILADELPHIA CATTLE MARKET.—Beef cattle were in fair demand this week, and prices were a fraction higher. About 2000 head arrived and sold at 7 1/2 to 9 1/2; for fair to good, and 4 1/2 to 5 1/2; for common, at 4 1/2 to 5 1/2; for firm; 200 head sold at $35.50 per head to quality. Sheep were in fair demand; 15,000 head sold at 50c. per lb. gross, as to condition. Hogs were dull; 3000 head sold at $3.50 to $3.75 per 100 lbs.

Addison, near the mill, and I have no doubt that she is the same. I will give a reward of $100 for her recovery, and I will also be responsible for her safe return. Taken from the farm of J. A. Addison, on the 1st day of July, 1871.

DELAWARE. Wilmington villas amuse themselves by throwing vitrol on passers-by. On the night of the 5th inst., something after 10 o'clock, a case of shooting occurred at the Mills, near, on Front Street, Wilmington. Isaac P. Potts and a companion entered the restaurant, and called for something to eat and drink, which they refused to pay for. The landlady, named Mrs. Potts, thereupon drew a pistol on him. In the meantime, a man named Robert Booth, employed by the P. W. & B. Railroad, who was present, interfered. There the great contest was waged, raised the window curtain, and fired at Booth, the ball entering the left breast, embedding itself about two inches. The wound was not dangerous.

The bequest of $500, made by the late Miss Beahm, was not to the Wilmington Institute, but to the Historical Society. It is stated that the cabbage worm is doing great injury to the crop of cabbages around Wilmington. One grower who planted 10,000 stalks will not be able to market over 500 heads.

One of the rolling mills, at du Pont's powder works, recently exploded, doing little damage, save to the building.

The sum of four hundred dollars has been apportioned to the Wilmington Conference as its share of the $400,000, which is due to the Foreign Missionary Society.

A serious cutting affray occurred at Middleton, on Wednesday, the 6th inst., between two lads, on Wednesday of last week, over some trifling affair, which came near resulting fatally. The participants were Walter Collins, white, and Geo. Brinkley, colored. In the fracas Brinkley inflicted several cuts upon Collins, one on the right and another under the arm. Brinkley is said to be a notoriously vicious boy. He is still at large.

The "Old Slide" Methodists at Lewes are engaged in building a new and commodious church edifice, 60x40 feet, with basement and tower. The estimated cost of the new church is $8,000, and of the sum $4,000 has already been raised.

ALEXANDER CROSS, residing at Black's Cross Road, had his dilapidated plow on the 2d inst., while assisting to unload a thrasher—the machine falling on him.

According to the Transcript, the health of Chestertown is excellent, and the peach season in this section has about closed, and has not been a profitable one to the growers. The crop was rather small, and the market, and more money would have been realized from a much smaller yield. Some varieties, particularly the Health, were more indifferent than the common ones.

It is said that an effort is being made to establish a bank at Masses', and that Dr. Massey has located the list stock, subscription of the women and persons professed converts at the Chestertown camp meeting.

QUEEN ANNE'S. The young man Thomas H. Legg, who recently committed suicide, did so because he loved a young lady, and thought she gave preference to another. Notwithstanding the lady remained in blissful ignorance of his attachment to her.

A county temperance convention was held at the Court House, in Centerville, on Tuesday, 5th inst. The attendance was rather slim, and a lack of proper interest in the subject was plainly manifested. The convention adopted resolutions, to circulate petitions for signatures, to be presented to the Legislature, asking a modification of our license laws, so as to leave the voters of Election Districts, wards or corporate towns, the privilege of saying whether liquor shall be sold within the respective limits of such district, ward or town, and also to make the vendors of intoxicating liquors responsible for all the damage that may be done to person and property by any one under the influence of liquor purchased at their establishment.

The fire is supposed to have originated from matches in the hands of a colored boy. The loss is about $3,500; insured in the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Montgomery County, for $1,000.

The oyster business is active. Canses last week, as much as ten dollars per day. Common oysters, bought by the punks, bring 33 cents per bushel.

A light-house is soon to be erected on the banks of the Chesapeake Bay, near Choptank River, to take the place of the boat now stationed on the Dorchester side.

DORCHESTER. The News says: Citizens are paying up their indebtedness to capitalists, and in several instances they borrowed money have been their debtors to keep the money at six per cent, if they could find any use for it. These facts sound very strangely when we remember that the twelve months ago money could not be borrowed for less than ten or fifteen per cent.

On the 9th inst., a man named Henry Claridge, on returning to his home, from a party, was met with a fatal accident. His horse started to run off, and in jumping out of the carriage, he fell on his head and so injured himself that he died in about half an hour.

WICOMICO. J. Wilson Dowe had his hand caught and so injured by a thrasher, that amputation was necessary.

The Bachelor's head is passable; but we do not think it will ever be a fatal accident. Richard Swilling, his son, Woodland Jones and Geo. Smith proceeded to the store of G. C. Parker at Eldon Station on Wednesday night, and at a very late hour, landed their horses and sleds, took possession, drove off Mr. Willis with his wife and another young man who was with him, and left the store in a state of confusion, and under the influence of whiskey, so says the Bachelor.
