After 23 years' experience in the Fertilizing business, and after establishing a wide reputation for the purity and excellence of his Bone lust, the subscriber has been induced to prepare a Phosphate suitable to the requirements and every way worthy the attention of been induced to prepare a Prosposate statate to the requirements and every way worthy the attention of the Southern F river.

The "MARYLAND" is a rejuvenator and permanent improver of the soil. It stimulates equal to Peruvian duance, and sustains equal to Bone, being composed almost entirely of these ingredients, with a very liberal percentage of Potash in the residuon. There is no adulterator nor inferior article used—very particle of the Phosphate being of essential benefit to the land—Neither pains nor expense have been spared in its preparation, and we claim for it the greatest benefit to the farmer from the smallest outlay.

For Cotton, Wheat and Corn, and as a general stimulant and aliment for worn and impoverished land there can be nothing superior. It is warranted to run as high in Annonia and higher in Bone Phosphate than any other fertilizer in the market.

Construction of Farm-Yards. The time has now arrived when almost all farmers have their farm-yards clear of manure, and no better opportunity can be found than the present, to turn their attention to the remodeling the yard, and so constructing the surface as to effect the saving of all the most valuable portions of the manure that are usually lost by drainage.
Your farm yard must first be graded,

the grass lands. Then make a measurement and survey of the yard by driving short stakes every twelve feet all round the outside of that part to be appropriated for the purpose, taking care so to plan the yard that any buildings you erect in future may be now laid out, so far as a ground plan is concerned, the object being to make the yard into the form of a square or objong, with depression in the center. When all round the edge is staked out as described, at every twelve feet, you may commence to level. To do this, however, requires a level, and one must be had. A simple and efficient one may very quickly be made by taking a board about six inches wide, perfectly straight, and twelve feet six inches long. Then take a similar one, three feet long, and screw it firmly with four wood screws on to the face of the long piece, and at right angles from it, attaching a brace on each side, with screws well entered, and jointing through the lower end of the brace, whilst the upper part is firmly screwed down. Then draw a line down through the centre of the upright piece, and cut three saw cuts about an inch deep into the upper end. Now hang on a weight by a piece of twine attached to the top of the upright piece, and rest the end of the long piece of board on two pegs exactly twelve feet four inches apart, driven into the ground and allowed to project somewhat. You will now proceed to test you level by putting Maryland Super-Phosphate it on the pegs so as to allow the centre weight or "bob," technically so called, to hang down. Rack the upright piece and tap in one or of the pegs, until by reversing the level, that is turning it end for end, you find it absolutely level and true. When the string with the "bob" attached to it hangs perfectly down the line, whether the level is one way or reversed end for end, then you have an absolutely true level, and must now screw the screws of the braces firmly into the main portions of the level, and there will be no danger of its getting out of "truth;" but should it do so, you can easily test it in the same way; though hereafter you must alter it by taking a little off at either end, as required to adjust it. You are now ready to level all round the yard, at the upper edge, or outside, moving your level from peg to peg, as you go on, until you get back to the one you started from. If then, after going all round, you find much variation, just go back again, and be more accurate, tapping in the pegs as you proceed.— When this is corrected, measure to the center, as nearly as convenient, from the pegs all round, and the middle will be the place for your reservoir or tank. Now say you are laying out a farm yard 150 feet by 100 feet, or any size and shape that may suit your premises or locality; you now commence at any one of the pegs on the longer side, and place one end of your level on it, pointing at right angles towards the center line, and drive another peg into the earth at twelve feet distance, just so deep that a block of five inch scantling resting on the second peg will cause the level to appear to be correct. Again, place one end of the level on this second the same line, towards the center, drive a third peg into the ground, just deep peg, and directing the other end along enough to make the level true when placed upon it with the intervention of the five inch block, in the same manner as before. Repeat this process as often as necessary till the center line is reach-This will give you just five inches fall in every twelve feet, or in the fifty feet about twenty inches fall to the center. Do this at each peg, all over the yard sides and ends, driving in each peg firmly into the carth. Your yard will, when finished, be correctly surveyed and leveled, forming a square or oblong basin, as the case may be, with twenty inches depression in the center. Your pegs being all driven in firm, now commence with plow and scraper, to move just one-half the earth so surveyed, and haul it away to the upper side all around, until the pegs show you have depressed ten inches in the middle, and raised ten inches on the outside. Then when all is carefully and correctly leveled, according to the pegs, your work will be near done so far. You may now remove all the pegs, and the first wet time that nothing else can be done, get all the animals you can into the yard and drive them round and round until the surface is entirely and thoroughly puddled, being all trodden into mud, about ten inches deep. Your yard will now be water-tight, or nearly so, if the soil is clayey. In a few days it will be dry and solid, and may now be harrowed smooth, and the cattle feet marks all leveled in. Now ran a hox drain along the line in the center of the yard, and leave a space of about twelve feet in the center, into which you must now proceed to sink your tank. A full description of this, and the way to construct it, with manure pump and power applied to empty the tank occasionally, will be given in another communication. American Stock Journal,

WINTERING CALVES .- In a letter from "Ogden Farm," published in the American Agriculturist, the writer says: I commenced last Fall a new extravagance, and I am satisfied that it pays well. I had hithorto wintered my young calves on the same food with the yearlings, and always succeeded in bringing them through the winter in tolerable condition—quite as good as the average. Last winter I gave to each from half a pint to a pint a day of whole oats, and I am satisfied they grew as fast as they would have done on summer pas-ture. The growth, too, was of the right haracter-in the bones; they were thrifty and lusty without being at all fat, and I think have a better chance of becoming copious, bony cases and gand milkers than if they had received only the usual rations. Some of my neighbors feed corn-meal to their calves, and I observe that the effect is very different from that of oats, producing less development of hone and more of fat

-the opposite of what we want in milking stock. POULTRY KEEPING .- The deficiency of our poultry supply mainly arises from a want of systematic enterprise. Many people "go in" for fancy poultry, and even for ordinary descriptions, with an eya tu prizes at a poultry show.— Farmers wives and daughters have the poultry for pin money; and hundreds of people "keep fowls," utterly ignoring the consideration the fowls might be made to keep them. But as to poultry keeping on a large scale, with an eye to more increasing demand, this is quite an exceptional state of things. Fowls—using the word generally—should receive attention like sheep or pigs, or even more, for they are more delicate and susceptible to disease.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whisker, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the tasta, called "Tonica," "Appetizera," "Restorera," &c., that lead the tippier onto drunkenness and ruin, but are atmospherically and the tippier onto drunkenness and ruin, but are atmospherically and the tippier of the Malcoholic Stimulauts. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and allow deposits into breed these living monators of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermitages, no anthe minities, will free the system from worms like these Bitiers. J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. MCDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. MFSOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS,

Ayer's. Hair Vigor, For restoring Gray Hair to

with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.
Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. STATE AND COUNTY RIGHTS Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
