

The Inevitable.
The result of the recent election in this county, has taught all who can read the signs of the times, that here, as elsewhere, the lease of power of the Democratic party is destined to be short.

The Republican party is often beaten, when it has the strength to win, if it did but use that power. Its masses are composed of the better portion of the well-to-do men of the nation, and who, seeing the very seem of humanity holding so conspicuous a place in the Democratic party, become disgusted with politics, and stay away from the primary meetings and the polls, and become guilty, by this negative course, of foisting the worst set of office hunters into power.

Government is a sacred trust, and every man should hold dear, and to keep its source pure, should be a constant aim. By the influence of the many of our best citizens to their rights of the elective franchise, knowers and fillers have contrived to gain a preponderant influence in State affairs. The system of grog-shop electioneering is a most pernicious practice, handed down to the present generation, and one that calls most loudly for reform.

Our little county organ—small in caliber we mean; in square inches of paper—abundance of ink is well supplied—has its "say," and now calls what it formerly swore to stand by, in limitation of its more pretentious brothers. It reluctantly gives up slavery. That is a "dead issue." Negro suffrage is another "dead issue." It concludes to let that stand, also. And the National debt must be paid to the last dollar. Repudiation is consequently a "dead issue." It concludes to hold on to the "Kl-Klux" as the form for hope, and give notice that "we" are ready to take on any candidate or party that turns up.

The trouble, very apparent, is that the candidate or party which is to have this white giving up no sign of turning up. While giving up no sign of turning up, it would be advisable for the party to give up the ghost and scatter like sheep that have lost their shepherd; and each member report of his political sins, and try to build up the South by ceasing to contribute to its ruin; and invite capital and labor from the North, by guaranteeing their protection.

Till the Democratic party repents of its sins and engages in the work of civilizing the regions it has helped to cast out into the darkness and beastliness of barbarism, by championing the cause of slavery for so many years, it need not expect to be anything more than a kind of Wandering Jew, finding no place of rest in the confidence of the people.

A PRESENT FOR ALL.
An old subscriber seems to misunderstand our offer of "A Present to Every Subscriber, for 1872," and suggests that subscribers who have already paid some thing in advance of January 1st 1872, should be entitled to a premium if they remit $5. Our offer certainly includes all such. Every subscriber paying $2 whose subscription has been paid to January 1st 1872 can have either of the publications named. Those wishing to secure premiums must hurry up as but four weeks of the time remain.

Giving It Up.
Since the November elections, the Democratic party has about lost all hope of making a stand against Gen. Grant for President for 1872, and the leaders are now anxiously casting about for some function, or candidate of some other party, to hook to. They have hopes in a disaffected portion of Republicans, who are jealous of Grant's popularity with the masses. The "White Man's Party" is dead. The Republican scheme is dead. Running Union generals on Democratic platforms has proved an utter failure. The Kl-Klux treason war carried the Southern States next fall for see that the Administration is determined to crush that thinly-veiled second attempt at rebellion, on the part of the "chivalry." The Southern masters of the party would take no stock in the "New Departure," having on the Kl-Klux plot, the Democratic party is about a party adrift as any party ever found itself, without compass or chart; or, dropping the figurative, without any national policy to guide the country with.

Our little county organ—small in caliber we mean; in square inches of paper—abundance of ink is well supplied—has its "say," and now calls what it formerly swore to stand by, in limitation of its more pretentious brothers. It reluctantly gives up slavery. That is a "dead issue." Negro suffrage is another "dead issue." It concludes to let that stand, also. And the National debt must be paid to the last dollar. The Baltimore American is a most pertinent Swann organ. It will insist on running up the name of the white bird of Maryland for Vice President. In last Monday's issue it recommends to the Democracy Boss Tweed for President, and the hero of the "Green Seal" for Vice President. We don't think that either of them has a ghost of a chance, although the Swann is one of the ablest—in his own opinion—men in the party; and the American is so "not in its ways," that it will insist on bringing the modest man out.
