a joint-stock capital, even though your individual energies are expended as herotofore, each on his own farm, the advantages you would reap could not fail to be immense. In endeavoring to aid others by advice and the knowledge gained from experience, each individual will profit inconcivably thereby. Let the farmers in all parts, or any part of the county, organize unions, and lay down a plan of systematic operations, for one year, and then report the results.

—The Legislature of Maryland will meet on Wednesday next, and Gov. Whyte will be inaugurated on the following Wednesday, the 10th of January, to continue in office for four years. If the Assembly, which is so soon to commence its sessions at Annapolis, proves to be as expensive a Democratic luxury as its predecessors composed of that party, the tax-payers may well heave a sigh at its meeting, and will doubtless draw a long breath of relief when its session comes to an end.

While some of our Republican cotem white some of our republican cotemporaries are still endeavoring to make people believe that Carl Schurz is a Republican, laboring only for reform within the party ranks, his friends in Missouri, calling themselves "Liberal Republicans," have called a convention and propose again to unite with the Democrats of that State unite with the Democrats of that State for the purposes of the ensuing election.—
The manifesto is published in the St. Louis Republican, and is signed by all the members of the Legislature and State officers whom Schurz could influence. The body of the "Liberal Republicans" go with the regular Republican organization for union and harmony. It is thus seen that it is a sheer waste of time to counsel any one to keep in the ranks such a man as Schurz.—

The evidence, as it came from the lips of the witnesses, put court, jury and audience to the blush. We doubt if in any court the same has been parallelled. First came, in all its horrid details, the murder of itel and a member of the League.

The fiends caught him in the highway, tied him to a tree, half-killed him by shooting, and then smashed his head with a rock. Two nights later the whole Klan was ordered out to remove and conceal the was ordered out to remove and conceal the Much the same kind of trouble was taken to avert with President Johnson. But it was all a waste of effort. The man had his followers, who misled him and themselves as to their importance and the numbers they could lead off. And when at last the breach had to come, and the malcontents had to leave the party, they were amazed at the insignificance of their followers.

Wext came the story of the murder of Tom Roundtree, shot down while escaping from his house, and then his throat cut from ear to car with a bowie knife.

Next came the story of the wife of Sam contents had to leave the party, they were amazed at the insignificance of their followers. The debate in the Senate on the ome of these talkative gentlemen profess to have so poor an opinion. They cannot attribute his actions to his Cabinet, for he has changed his advisers so much that few of the original members remain in office. Yet the moment that anything becomes advisable, it is done. We hear little more advisable, it is done. We hear little more of Ku-Klux outrages, and the Mormon problem is about solved. Cochise, the Apacho leader is coming to Washington, and the Civil Service Reform is ordered to go into effect. Somebody must draw up the plans. Somebody must give the orders. But Grant is essentially a plain, unpretending undemonstrative man. He has no can't phrases, no impressive sayings. He makes no figure to look at, and has nothing to say for effect. Quoth one of the malcontents, "He sits and smokes." Aye, and "he sits and smokes" to some purpose. He sat and smoked when Pember'on surrendered at Vicksburg, and when Lee sur-
