To retrieve his broken fortunes he went into the money market as a bordownward course was henceforth rapid.— Such men are rare, and among them will How to get on their legs again is a problem, we fear, many will be unable to solve. But is there no silver lining to this dark cloud? Will agriculture receive a lesson magnitude and importance; and learn to the patrons of the school. This could be profit by applying the wisdom developed accomplished by establishing moderate tuiby them which have not so stubbornly and stolidly resisted innovations and change from old systems. Formerly a belief almost general provailed that "anybody could farm," which is exploded at last, with very many disastrous evidences on ent in every business of any magnitude that turn out successful, namely, administrative ability of the kind suited to the business, and a reserve or working capital to meet the demands of present necessary outlay. Without these it will be by a miracle if any farmer, manufacturer, or follower of other large business succeeds. In these two essentials a very large per cent. of our farmers are deficient. Is there any way by which these all important requisites proper remedy. A remedy for this same evil has been discovered and applied in other industries we have named. Incorporation, which is the most effectual mode of cooperation yet discovered, has solved the difficulty and been applied to every other great industry but farming. We have never heard of it in agriculture, except as a speculation in some peculiarly located or situated tractor section of land. Our system of railroads could never be conducted on any other than a corporation or stock plan. All of the heavy and most successful manufacturing establishments are on the corporation plan. So is the mining business; the mercaniic and commercial cutterprises. None brain in a million is able to grasp all the details of a large business; hence a combination of minds with a systematic division of labot, the whole supervised by one except the lead, who superintends by a system of written, well digested rules, or code flaws. Why could not this system be applied to of witten, well digested rules, or code flaws. Why could not this system be applied to of written, well digested rules, or code flaws. Why could not this system be applied to expect the conducted by the conduction of the conduction of the conduction of the conduction of the conducti can be supplied. We doubt not that necessity will eventually find and apply the laws. Why could not this system be applied to agriculture? It has so immensely the advantage in other pursuits, it seems to us that, properly organized and directed, it could not fail to be equally successful in The old note is therefore inevitable, for it could not fail to be equally successful in

> The Trustees of the Academy should employ a teacher at a fixed salary, and pay him punctually at the end of each session. They should settle all bills for tuition with tion fees and collecting in advance. It would be just as easy to pay at the beginof a session as at the end; with the understanding that the money might be refunded under circumstances where the pupil, from some reasonable cause, was prevented from attending school. If tuition fees were paid in advance, they might be placed thirty per cent. lower, and with the increase in pupils that the reduced rates would, or ought, to command, a fund sufficient to keep up a first-class school, of high grade, would always be on hand. The teacher, with a fixed and sure salary, would enter on his duties, with heart and mind in his work, and the Trustees having the entire outside management of the school, the institution would be under efficient control in every respect, and could not fail to prosper.—

A president, Secretary, treasurer and whatever officers their plan called for would be chosen. Each man could, at his option, reserve his homestead and plot of ground, garden, orchard, &c., as he desired. It is not necessary to our purpose to go like in the protection of the later shared in the protection of the later shared in the protection of the later shared in the protection. Each department would have its superintendent, whose attention would be wholly given to that one branch of the business, for which he would be made answerable. To bring the land up to the highest State of cultivation would be a most important principle to insure the success of the company. A judicious division of labor would insure thoroughness and economy, while it would release the members from that harassing brain labor, which attention to every detail imposes upon the individual farmer.

Theadvantage gained by a strong corporation in buying and selling, over an individual would be immense. The books of the company would show the cost of every crop and the amount it sold for; and every item of expense as well as receipts would be laid before the directors at their annual meeting. In the Senate on Monday, Mr. Chandler presented petitions in favor of reform in the collection of the revenue, and spoke in favor of continuing the system of moieties to informers. Mr. Sumner offered a resolution reciting that during the war between France and Germany, Remington & Sons, agents of the French Government, procured arms and ammunition from the arsenals agents of the French Government, procured arms and ammunition from the arsenals of the United States, and intimating that prominent officials of this Government connived at the breach of neutrality; therefore the resolution authorizes the appointment of a committee of seven to investigate the matter. The resolution was laid over for future action. Mr. Wilson introduced a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the Committee on Foreign Relations to consider the expediency of passing a joint resolution authorizing the President to communicate to the Government of Spain the protest of the United States against the action of the authorities of Cuba toward the Chinese laborers of that Island. The motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill for the relief of the Chicago sufferers adjourned. In the House of Representatives among the bills introduced was one to aid iron shipbuilding in the United States, and another to add thirty million dollars to the national currency circulation. A bill to permit criminals to testify in their own behalf was passed. The female sufficiently and the server of the House in their own behalf, which was rejected by only nine majority. In the House of Representatives a bill to appropriate $350,000 for the erection of Government buildings at Albany provoked opposition to the expenditure of large amounts for this purpose, but the bill was passed. Mr. Dawes was ready according to instructions with the bill to repeal the duty on sugar and coffee, and desired to accompany it with an explanation, which he was not allowed to make, and so did not present the bill. The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Naval Appropriation bill, and there ensued a debate on the Administration, and expecially the Navy Department. Mr. Hale a debate on the Administration, and especially the Navy Department. Mr. Hale explained and defended the bill, and some of the Democrats stated their purpose not to vote for it until they receive from the Department a statement of the amounts receive from the sale of vessels and materials.

Mr. Wilson demolished this thread of theories by stating the information which he, as Chairman of the Compittee of Williams Advise is in the information which he, as chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs, is in possession of. The arms had been sold to France by private citizens; as soon as the Government discovered that the Reming-tons were acting as French agents their bids were refused; the apparent discrep-ner in the tingent account was caused ancy in the financial account was caused by the fact that the Treasurer had not re-ceived all the money due for the arms sold at the time his last report was made; the United States did not lose a farthing, and no taint attached to any officer of the Government. It was also shown that when the War Department first sold arms to the Remingtons it had no reason to suspect that they were intended for France. A political turn was given to the discussion by Mr. Scott's assumption that the investigation is intended as a catcale on the tigation is intended as an attack on the Administration, which Mr. Sumner denied. In the Senate on Friday, the Comptroller was requested to furnish a statement of the bids and contracts for public printing at each session of the Legislature since 1864. The bill to authorize Calvert coun-ty to subscribe to the stock of the Drum Point Railroad was amended and ordered to a final reading. A favorable report was made from the Committee on Finance on the bill in relation to foreign insurance the bill in relation to foreign insurance Companies doing business in the State, and it now awaits action. The House bill for keeping the election polls in Baltimore open from 6 o'clock A. M. to 6 o'clock P. M., on election day was adopted and only needs the Governor's signature to become a law. In the House of Delegates the resolution of the Baltimore City Council asking authority to issue $1,000,000 additional in bonds for the construction of the City Hall was referred to a committee consist-

WOOLEN MACHINERY. By virtue of a Decree of the Circuit Court for Cecil county, in chancery, the undersigned, as Trustee, will offere at public sale, at the Court House door, in Elk-ton, on TUESDAY, the 12th day of March, 1872, AT 11 O'CLOCK A. M., ALL THAT VALUABLE

KNOWN AS CRAWFORD'S FACTORY, situate on the Big North East Creek, one mile and half from the Depot of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad at North East. The Farm contains 94 Acres, more or less; thirty of which is in cultivation, wel fenced, and in fine condition; Peacl, and Apple Orchard of choice fruit. The residue of the land is Oak an Chestnut Timber.

The MANSION HOUSE is of stone, 34 feet.

The MANSION HOUSE is of stone, 34 feet.

By 20 feet, 2½ stories; good outbuildings, conveniently located.

There are on the farm, near the Factory, 5 in the farm of the mans. It of the farm is the farm.

THE FACTORY, which has been used heretofore as WOOLEN MILL is built mostly of stone, is 20 x 60 feet, 234 stories high Also, two-story frame Dye House, 27 x 22 feet, containing two Copper Dye Kettles, one of them of 200 lise capacity; also, brick Dry House, 3 stories, 16 x 28 feet, slatted floors.

THE WATER-POWER ow in use is 19 feet head and fall. The dam breast is early natural, requiring very little artificial dam; tream unfailing. There is another Mill Seat on the roperty of over 35 feet fall.

property of over 35 feet fall.

This property, on account of its proximity to Railroad Depot, being about half-way between Philadelphia and Baltimore, its great and unfailing Water-Power, the trifling expense necessary for dam building, is one of the most valuable offered for many years. The neighborhood is distinguished for its health: the village of North East, only a little over two miles, affords churches and schools. The celebrated works of the McCullough from Company, are on same stream, and their property adjoins the Crawford property. The Mill is easily converted into a Cotton or Paper Mill, and the lower Mill Seat now uneccupied, affords a plendid site for a manufactory of any kind. A large quantity of WOOLEN MACHINERY, now in the mill, will be sold at same time, con CARDS, MULES, &c., &c.

TRIMS OF SALE.—One-third of the purchase money to be paid Cash on day of sale; one other third in One, year, and the residue in Two years thereafter. The credit payments to lear interest from day of sale, and to be secured by the Notes of the purchaser, with security to be approved by the Trustee.

ity to be approved by the Trustee.

W. J. JONES,
Trustee.

At the same time there will be sold a large quantity of WOOLEN MACHINERY, for account of James Crawford's estate; also, a fine lot of new Woolen Machinery, for account of Crawford & Terry, upon terms which will be made accommodating to purchasers.

April, James B. Crawford, on the premises, will give every facility to persons wishing to view the property entire—real or personal. Letters addressed to W. J. Jones, Elkton, Maryland, or James B. Crawford, North East, Maryland.

Meetings of County Commissioners. IllE regular meetings of the County Commissioners will be held on the second TUESDAY of every onto.

Persons having claims against the County, will please the same in the Countissioners' Office, with a logal Performance of the Commissioners' Office, with a legal voucher; as no account will be allowed not properly chargeable to the same.

Collectors and others having accounts to be stated or settled will apply to the Clerk during the recess of the Board.
