FARM AND HOUSEHOLD. ASSOCIATED CHEESE FACTORIES.

At a meeting of the Dairymen's Associa tion of Vermont, held in January, at Rutland, some very interesting facts were All kinds and styles of Building done by Contract, or Superintendence. Best of references given. [mar 4, 1871—18] several speakers. Mr. Clark, of the Rutelicited in the course of the remarks of the land Herald, in the address of welcome to the members of the Association, said, there was no branch of agriculture that had made such rapid strides as that relating to the dairy; and that there was none in which minds more intelligent or more ripe for Ladies', Misses' & Children's Shoes, investigation, or which profit more by experience, had been enlisted; and this was manifested by the progress of their association, the influences that have gone out from it, and the fruits that have been gathered-in the better production, and in the increased zeal of the producers.

The factory system commenced, in this country, in 1859, when there was no foreign Equitable Life Assurance Society, reputation for its operations, but the flood of intelligence that has gone out among the people has enabled them to progress from the manufacture of inferior cheese to that of such quality as to revolutionize the that of such quality as to revolutionize the feeling in England, and to force the admission that American cheese is equal to the best English manufacture; and, in fact, to arouse a lively competition between the manufacturers of the two countries, as well as to create a home market, which could not otherwise have been secured.

We have already stated, that the farmers and others interested in the Cheese production of England, had sent to this country.

tion of England, had sent to this country and secured the services of one of the most skillful men engaged in the business in New ELKTON, MARYLAND. York, and guaranteed a fund of $20,000 to get the factory in their county (Derby) TO HOLDERS OF 5-20 BONDS under way. At the meeting which determined on this course, dealers gave as a reason why it was more profitable for them to buy American cheese than their home production, that the uniformity in quality of the former was such, that 6 per cent. variation was the average, whilst in the English cheese it was 33 per cent. This The Northern Pacific Railroad difference is occasioned by the mode of manufacture; the English being made by individuals, the American by the co-opera tive system.

Whilst the production of Cheese is increasing to an enormous extent annually, the demand keeps pace therewith. The factory system, introduced as stated above, extended from New York; where it originated, to the Eastern and Western States, and there are now probably nearly 2,000 factories in existence, averaging 300 cows to each—and the same system, so successful in this branch of dairying, is also extending to the making of butter. The CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA official returns, it was stated at the meeting in Vermont, show that in 1871 the export of Cheese was 6,078,500 lbs. more 85 in Currency & Accrued Interest, than in 1870, and the same is true of butter-6,125,508 lbs. more being exported in 1871 than in 1870. These facts establish beyond doubt the practicability of extending the business without any danger of its being overdone; for, independent of the increased exportation, it is proved that the domestic consumption is also largely increased wherever these factories have been established in a neighborhood-it being well known that the nutriment contained in a pound of cheese is decidedly greater than in the same quantity of meat. We have ever believed that this business could be adopted in the Middle, if not in all the Southern States, with greater advantage than in most of those to the north and west of us, where it is now so flourishing, on account of our climate and soil being better suited for it, if conducted on systematic or business-like principles-and the proof is at hand.

We have just received the Leesburg Loudon county, Va.) Republican, containing an account of the operations of the "Old Dominion Cheese Factory," established at Hamilton, Va., last May, which was read before the patrons of the Factory, 20th Jan., 1872:

Statement of the Old Dominion Factory.

Amount of milk received from May 6th o September 8th, 1871, 378,138 lbs. Amount of cheese manufactured, 36,625 10.3 lbs. of milk required for one pour of cheese. Average net price of cheese 123 cts. per lb., after deducting cost of boxes, freight and all other expenses except manufacturing. Value of 30,625 ths. cheese at 121 cents er Ib., $4,715.47. Average number of cows, 125.

Average number of cows, 125.
24 cents per lb. charged for manufacturing, curing, boxing, furnishing all materials, (except boxes,) selling at the factory, collecting the money and dividing the same among the patrons in proportion to milk furnished and cheese made.

He averaging it was proved that the

By experiment it was proved that the milk required to make I lb. of butter made 3 lbs. of cheese.

The cost of factory, machinery, etc., for manufacturing the milk from 400 to 600 cows, is about $3,000.

The unprecedented drouth in Landau.

The unprecedented drouth in Loudon during the past season rendered it exceedingly unfavorable for the cheese enterprise. Cheese could be made in ordinary seasons The nature of the grass, the pure spring water, and the favorable climate all combined to produce cheese pronounced by dealers in Richmond, Norfolk, Alexandria, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia as second to none in the market. The fact that the Old Dominion cheese commanded that the Old Dominion cheese commanded from one to three cents per pound more than any other cheese offered in the mar-ket, is sufficient evidence of its quality. It is conceded by all who have examined the subject, that Virginia is admirably adapted for the success of the dairy; and that its products, cheese, butter and milk, will now the farmer a bunded feld new file. will pay the farmer a hundred-fold over th present system of exhausting the land with grain and tobacco. Our lands n ced less frequent plowing, more grass and much more home-made sertilizers. A new depar-ture in this matter would materially im-
