one, in fact the prime cause of their degon-eracy, and the general upsetting of south-ern financial interests, the declining in the price of lands, &c. We do not make these remarks with any malicious motives, but merely to impress on the minds of your readers the fact that industricus young in the the South at this hour of financial peril, and most urgently, too, at this hour, as it were, of her destiny, is a aplendid array of hard-working, sober, stalwart and enterprising youths. She has no need of drones, and the ranks of merely professional men are already over-stocked.—Young men who live in the country should resist the allurements of clerkships in the city, and learn what a more noble duty is before them where they are. They will be happier, more healthy, more surely on the road to wealth, by conquering the globe, than by flittering their lives away over protracted searches for a paradise in dry goods, or an El Dorado in groceries. Man must live by mind or muscle.—True, there is another manner of killing time,—the ignoble art of living upon the toil of others. We will suppose there are few who read this that are in this category, and all anxious to labor, in some manner, for the common weal. Granting this, let all who have an unmistakable calling for intellectual pursuits hearken to the great variety of the common weal. Granting this, let all who have an unmistakable calling for intellectual pursuits hearken to the great variety of the common weal. Granting this, let all who have an unmistakable calling for intellectual pursuits hearken to the great variety in the market.)

The great argument used for burying manure by people of the past was that as that was that as them sheer escaped into the atmosphere. So much benefit has been the valuable matter escaped into the atmosphere. So much benefit has been the valuable matter escaped into the atmosphere. So much benefit has been the valuable matter escaped into the atmosphere. So much benefit has been the valuable matter escaped into the atmosphere. selves; if we can hold it from passing into all who have an unmistakable calling for intellectual pursuits hearken to the great voice, and light their way through the crowded array of doctors, lawyers, ministers, teachers, &c., to pre-eminence. But for those whose chief reliance is in their glorious strength of body, let them compet the soil to yield its fruits and the forest its stores. Let them put their hand to the plow if agriculture allures them; let them enter the machine shops if mechanics allures them; with a sturdy pride of independence grapple with the duty so plainly set before them to do, and bless the South with a race of wonkers which will be worth all the political acrobats that ever was or ever will be. Many of the best young men that ever tred the earth are taking pattern from their northern brethren and have already commenced the glorious task of rescuing and building up their States by personal labor. But many remain to whom the mere contact of an implement of trade or agriculture is considered a disgrace. Nay, the shame or main to whom the mere contact of an implement of trade or agriculture is considered a disgrace. Nay, the shame or disgrace is not in labor; the shame is rather with him who eats his idle bread in scorn of honest toil. Men who distinguished the state of the least furners of New York hauls disgrace is not in labor; the shame is rather with him who cast his idlo bread in scorn of honest toil. Men who distinguished themselves in army and navy, when home were not ashamed to drive the team a field or to perform services that these dainty boys imagine meniel. There is not a Sovereign or Prince in all Europe who is not taught some useful trade; even King William, of Prussia,—a name familiar to every household since the Franco-Prussia war,—is a practical machinist and judge of the quality of iron, of muen skill, as well as partner of M. Krupps, one of the most extensive iron-workers in all Germany, caye, in the whole world;) and many a cow who has sported with a crown, has blessed the day he learned some craft that had become his loyal servitor when the means of power left him.

In the face of these facts, are we to be told that the Southern boys are too proud to work? Are there any parents so imbecile as to uphold them in this false estimate of their dignity and self-importance? We hope not; but if there be such, woe to them and to their children! They are invoking curses, instead of benedictions; they are a second war would be powerless to indict. The young men who now work are bound to be the lords of the future, and the Solons of the land. No matter how lowly, industry will enoble them; for 'tis not the occupation—and their progeny will hold the seats of domination. In the same ratio the idle and timid will shill lower and lower as the years progress, and the legendary traditions of their aristocratic lineage (which in order to keep up appearances, they are becoming more and order next best to hay.—

Conventions, and among the subjects for reports at the next convention held, according to the first resolution, be the following.

Goodman, in an article on this subject, in the Massachusetts Ploughnan, says:

Burying Manure in the Soil. Perhaps in no better way is the progres of agriculture illustrated than in the manner of applying manure now, and the course of practice of a century ago. No one thought of applying manure on the surface. It was dead vegetable matter and must be buried; and like all dead things the sooner it was put out of sight the greater the profit to the living plant. Morton in his Cyclopædia of Agriculture well puts the belief in the past when he says "the quicker farmyard manure is buried the better."

This is not true now. Any cyclopædist who would write thus would not command the respect of intelligent readers. There men are the hope and future pros-fering of the South are not in the hands of old poli-ticians; they are in the keeping of the young men who, as they prove industrious or indoleut, great shall be their reward or terrible their punishment. What we want in the the South at this hour of financial peril, and most urgently, too, at this hour,

The great argument used for burying the legendary traditions of their aristocratic lineage (which in order to keep up appearances, they are becoming more and more involved yearly, with less prospect of extrication than at the beginning.) will not save them from decrepitude and final extinction. The better lineage a man inherits, the more he is called on to attest the fact that he is superior to the bones of his ancestors, and worthy of their lineage and gentle blood. There is no excuss for him if he fails to outstrip those who have to battle against adverse fate and social ostracism. He ought to blush if the race is run by the tortoise, while he is so swift and by the tortoise, while he is so swift and nurc. This starts the growth at once, dark by the tortoise, while he is so swift and nimble a hare.

Maryland has this day at work in her fields and work-shops, many a youngster whom she will in the future, as in the past, delight to bestow the choicest gifts upon, much to the chagrin of those lineaged aristocrats who now scarcely notice them, regarding them as inferior specimens of the genus home, hardly worthy of common courtesy.

We, in our personal observation, know of several whose example is worthy of commendation by all who are interested in statistical, political and social improveof several whose example is worthy of commendation by all who are interested in statistical, political and social improvement.

A National Movement in the Cause of Agriculture.

The following resolutions were adopted by a National Agricultural Convention, held at Washington, in February, last:

Resolved, That it will greatly conduce to the successful operations of agriculture throughout the world, that its operators should have the light of scientific knowledge to guide the work.

Resolved, That we recognize in the act of Congress of July 2, 1862, the foundation upon which may be organized and built colleges and schools, where the scientific principles and knowledge of agriculture may be taught, and that it is our anxious desire and duty to foster and encourage them in the work of educating farmers.

Resolved, That in the establishment of agricultural colleges and schools, where the scientific principles and knowledge of agriculture may be taught, and that it is our anxious desire and duty to foster and encourage them in the work of educating farmers.

Resolved, That in the establishment of agricultural colleges and schools, their organizations should embrace the following principles:

1st. They should be distinctively agricultural in their government and teachings; and taught.

3d. That females, as well as males, may be admitted as pupils.

Resolved, That horticultural and agricultural societies, and agricultural colleges and schools, are co-laborers in the same field, and tend to promote the same object—the proper cultivation of the soil; and that all these should unite on any plan of education by which the light of knowledge should be made to shine upon their work.

Resolved, That the Department of Agriculture is also a creature of the government, established for the same great purpose of cherishing and and promoting the interests of agriculture, and that its efficiency must necessarily depend upon its intimate conoction with all other agricultural institutions which exist in this and foreign countries; and we therefore recommend to the said Department that it establish such a relation with the agricultural colleges and schools, and horticultural and agricultural societies, as that there may be a continuous exchange of information, seeds, roots, plants, and publications as shall be mutually advantageous, and conduce to the leading agricultural and horticultural interests of the country.

It was resolved to hold in future Annual Conventions, and a mong the subjects for nd taught.

First. On the importance and means of improving physical expertness in agricultural labor, the object being to devote to the development of human skill the attention too much confined to the horse and the brute creation, and a report to be presented concerning expertness in farm-labor.

Second. On the importance to farmers of accurate accounts of expenses, receipts in detail, and of careful study of these, as a means of constant annual improvement.

Third. On the best means of organizing neighborhood associations for mutual improvement.

Fourth. On the best method of conducting experiments, and the necessity of careful records, and of reparating the conditions involved.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Currative Effects.

They are not a vite Pancy Drink, mades! Peor Rum, Whilekey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors dectored, spiced and sweetned to please the taste, called "Tonica," "Appetiers," "Restorera," &c., that lead the tippler onto drunkenness and ruin, but are atmospherically the testing of the Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herize of California, free from all Alechelle Stimulants.

They are the GREAT BLOBO DURRIPIER and A LIPE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter andrestoring the blood to a lestity condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remais long unwell-provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair. They are a Gentle Pargatilvo as well as a powerful agent in reliefung Congestion or Indiamastion of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR PEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or clit, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsin or Indigestion, Billeans, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers.
Bluences of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bludder, these Bitters have been most successful.

Blindder, these Bitters have been most successful, Such Disenses are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Di-which is generally produced by derangement of the IFIE gentive Organs.

DYMPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pala la the Fhouliers.Coughs, Tightness of the Chest. Distiness, Sour Fructations of the Steenach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Billeus Attacks, Papitation of the Laught and the Indiammatica of the Laught, Palin in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the Authority of December.

Inflammation of the laugs, Pain in the regions of the kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the cdaypings of Dyspepsis.

They favigorate the Stomach and attinuiate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalited effects in the control of the theory in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and typer to the whole system. Foth Ski Ki Birsk-Meis, Entwitions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Kpots, Pimples, Pastules, Boile, Carbaneles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyre, Erripelas, Itch. Scarfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Discusses of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally duty up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most increduous of their curative effects. Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its importities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you fail to obstructed and sluggish in the veinst cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the Llood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Plus, Tape, and other Worims, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Esys a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth worse exist, but upon the disease humors and allow deposits that breed these living monaters of disease. No Frysten of Medicine, no vermilages, no antiefminites, will free the system from worns like these Bitters.
