First Dividend Declared.—The National Bank of Elkton, when Mr. Tome took hold of it, was insolvent. $50,000 of the capital stock was paid up, and the Bank started on a new course of prosperity. At the Directors' meeting, on Tuesday, a dividend of 5 per cent. for the last six months was declared, the debt of $50,000 having in addition been canceled. A bottle of champagne was broken over the diminished head of Old Liabilities, and from a debt-paying institution the Bank was pronounced hence for the same might that we are in the midst of hot weather, our citizens should forth a dividend-paying concern.

Jeff, as the name would imply, was not a Thomas cat, but one of the softer sex .-After an existence of 11 years, 2 months and 10 days, she departed this life, on Saturday, the 22nd day of June last. Dedication .- The dedication of the Rock Church took place on Thursday, the 4th. The house was well filled at an early hour. Rev. Dr. Allen, of Pino Street Church, Philadelphia, preached the sermon, and it was considered by many to be one of the finest they had heard in a long time. The afternoon services consisted principally of speeches by different ministers from neighboring churches, who were present on the occasion. In the evening, Rev. Mr. Johns gave a long, but very interesting history of the church from the time it was founded, nearly one hundred and fifty years ago, until the present day: a history that would fill quite a book. The church has been rebuilt, costing about $5,000, and to-day the debt against it amounts to only $300. The music was conducted by Prof. Vanatsdale, and Misses Riley, Hess, and Mrs. Dr. Morrison presided at the organ.

TTOUBLES OF A HERALD CORRESPONDENT HE ENGAGES IN A BATTLE-HIS MEET-ING WITH THE SUPPOSED DEAD-TWO YEARS MORE OF EXPLORATIONS.

NEW YORK, July 2 .- A special despatch from London, July 1 says:

Letters from Stanley have been received of which the following is a summary: Mr. Stanley reached Unyanyembe on the 23d of September, 1871, having lost on the way by illness one white man, two of the armed escort, eight Pagagis, two horses and twenty-seven asses. From thence he intended advancing on Ujiji, but found terrible difficulties in the way. Miramo, King of Ajowa, declared that no caravan should pass Ujiji except over his dead body. The Arabs declared war and anticipated victory. I gave assistance the first day, and in concert with the Arabs attacked two villages and captured killed and drove away the inhabitants. On the second day I caught the fever. On the third day the Arabs were ambushed and routed with terrific slaughter. On the fourth day there Mille gave the scholars a fine speech, which was a general desertion of Arabs and my own men, all but six. Mirambo threatened Unyanyembe. I fortified the houses collected 150 fugitives, with five days' provisions, and hoisted the American flag .-Mirambo retired without attacking. I then started for Ujiji on another road. The Arabs endeavored to dissuade me, said that death was certain, and frightened my followers. Shaw deserted, but I nevertheless pushed forward over the untrodden desert for four hundred miles and reached the suburbs of Ujiji, which I entered firing guns and carrying the American flag at the head of the procession. The astonished Mr. John teswell is building a new barn. natives flocked out in crowds, with deafening shouts. I noticed in the centre of a group of Arabs, strongly contrasting their sunburned faces, a hale-looking, graybearded white man, wearing a naval cap with a faded gold band, and red woolen shirt, preserving a demeanor of calmness before the Arabs. I inquired, "Dr. Livingstone, I presume?" He, smiling, answored "Yes." He informed me that he started in March, 1866, with twelve Sepoys, nine Johanna men and seven liberated slaves. He travelled up the bank of the Ronuma. His men got frightened, deserted June, the NortlEast Building and Loan and reported Livingstone dead as an excuse for desertion. He crossed the Chambezi and found it not the Portuguese Zambese, but wholly a separate river. He traced it and found that it was called further on Lualaba. He explored it 700 miles and found that the Chambezi is doubtless the source of the Nile, and that the length of the Nile, is 2,600 miles. It is not supplied by the Tanganyika. He reached within 180 miles of the explored ground, when he was obliged to return to Ujiji destitute. He here met me. We both left on the 16th of October and arrived at Unyanyembe at the end of November. We spent twentyeight days exploring the district together. We spent Christmas in Ujiji. I arrived or the coast March 14, leaving Livingstone at Unyanyembe to explore the north of Tanganyika lake and the remaining 180 miles of the Lualaba river. This will occupy the next two years. The letter from Cape May was crowded out this week.

JULY.

Mideummer is upon us. The midland forest puts on its livery of the darkest green and highest vigor, in the Northern Temperate Zone; while, in the corresponding torrid region, the skies, if still severe, are making ready for the annual delage which is the vertiable spring time in those lands that boast a double summer. In the former Zone there is a general, though momentary respite from the almost universal pests of the young and the decilining year; but not so in southern latitudes, where the order of the seasons is revered, and in California, where they are somewhat exceptional. In regions where rain never falls, the deep shadows of scarcely penetrable woods, with the heavy, never consing dews on which they feed, keep up the perpetual decomposition of the dying leaves, and the religio of madaria continues throughout the year.

Even in the hot season of the midder climates, especially in the heavily timbered districts of the West, the same effect follows from like causes; and while dyenteries and more or less midignant billous fever awage the cleared ground and upland slopes, the intermittent fevers are still frequent in the forest and the swamps. Once more then, we call attention to the silverticement of Paschall's Fever and Ague Mixture, as it appears on another page of this paper.
