sewing machine or some other article for the benefit of the church. The man who has the most cheek generally bores the community into giving him the largest amount of money, which is turned over to the Church. The only difference between demending him the largest amount of money, which is turned over to the Church. The only difference between this system and selling lottery tickets, is that the colopreture who carry the little books are designated to receive all the prizes, while in the old Havana Latry system serry ticket buyer had hopes of receiving a prize. The old lottery system werey ticket buyer had hopes of receiving a prize. The old lottery system werey ticket buyer had hopes of receiving a prize. The old lottery system which was so immoral and currupt, that it was placed under ban of the law had precisely the same result that the modern plan has: which is to raise a sum of money for some specific object without giving value for the same. Any teacher of the Gospel who sanctions or encourages such a disgusting and shameless mode of getting money for church purpose, or any other purpose, has a great causs for shame. The practice is a diagrace all round. The men who go about poking their subscription books under their neighbors ness, and the leading church folks who send them not on such missions are alike guilty of a sin against God and their fellow men. It was constituted in jump-ling off the mach in goff the mach reparated from the hull and remained floating, covered with passengers. There is one very peculiar thing about that. The smoke pipe was held in its place by a number of chains and braces running to it from the ends of the deck. When the boat broke up the smoke stack fell through the deck till it tightened up the braces. Then the weight of the fron pipe served for a ballast while the braces held together the floating deck and that in my opinion is what made it hold out so well in the water. what made it hold out so well in the water. We cling it hold out so well in the water. We cling to our boat and those huddled together on the deck were driven along toward the shore. Not only were the guests in every way kind and attentive, but Captain and Mrs. Nash, of the hotel, supplied every want as soon as it was known, and to them I owe as much gratitude as to any of the many that I am indebt to for my life.

The party in charge of the boat to which I clung was a fellow of great bravery and coolness. He gave us his orders and we had to obey him. He ranged us along the sides of the boat as we lay in the water and would not let us get in as it was safer that way. One man tried to climb in but the officer forbade him. After we had all got our places the officer saying he would not burden the boat threw himself into the water away from us, and swam to and climbed upon a cotton bale and clung to it and I think was saved. He was a brave fellow.
