she was at the dancing hall. The probable reason that all enjoyed themselves is partly owing to Capt. E., who acted as floor manager, and well did he fill his office, showing us at once he was at home among the ladies.

Many strangers were present, and Madam Rumour says all enjoyed themselves, so it must be true.

Between twelve and one all retired to the saloons of Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Woods. where they found tables set with all kinds of refreshments, viz: Coffee Biscuit, Fried and Stewed Oysters, Ice-cream, water-ices and every variety of Cake; and from the rapid disappearance of the dainties you may know our appetites were good. SEPTEMBER.

Once more, we feel warranted in renewing our notice advertised in our paper. The Autumnal Intermittents have again reached their appropriate season of activity, Acre, as in Southern latitudes, they flourish during the corresponding month of March. Over the richest portion of the earth, they are always prevalent at some time in the year, and then, so far as they are soncemed, the cities become more healthy than the country. But lusiness and necessity forbid us to lightly change our residence periodically in order to shun such dangers; and candidly bowing to the really able members of the learned profession once deemed devine, where such ability is accessible, we know of no remedy in papular use for such complaints that has been so highly certified as this, on professional authority, and so well attested by nearly a century of successful application.

The evening was delightful neither too cold or two warm, just moderate, and cold enough to dance with pleasure. Every one appeared to enter into the spirit, excepting those without boaux.

The Hall presented a fine appearance as so many angles, minus wings, whizzing to and fro, the seats were crowded with spectators, as Madam Curiosity generally reigns among such a crowd.

Richie's band was upon the stage, and as his ability is well known, every note they played seemed to inspire us, and renew and animate our hearts within us.
