The ice gorge is gradually wearing away at Port Deposit. Several channels have been cut through the ice by the water. There has been a gentle rise in the river and the muddy water rapidly wears away the ice, which started about Rock run on Thursday and filling up the channels that had been worn by the action of the current, caused a rise of some 15 inches and a temporary excitement. No serious damage is now apprehended from the movement of the ice.

Snow Blind .- We regret to learn that Mr. J. M. Hood, the efficient chief engineer of the Peach Bottom Railway, is suffering at the present time from an attack of snow blindness. He is receiving treatment at the hands of a skillful occulist in Philad'a, and we venture the hope that in a few days he may be able to resume the important work of which he is in charge. We learn :also that several others of the engineer parzy, which has been operating west of York during the winter, have been affectwi in like manner .- Oxford Press.

S'scramento Salmen in the Susquehann %.-On Monday 5,500 salmon, hatched ors for the quarter ending March 1st. from o va secured at the headwaters of the Sacrame uto river, were let into the Susquehauna at the water works wharf, Harrisburg, by Fish Commissioner Worrall and Mr. W. D. Seiler, of Harrisburg. The fish were from one to two inches long and appeared to be exceedingly healthy. The ova of the salmost were hatched by Mr. Slack, of Moorestewn, N. J. The fish were conveyed to Harrisburg by rail. 400 or 500 died on the way.

Now we hope our State at the next ses sion of the legislature will pass a stringent trict, recommending that a lot be purchalaw to tear out the fish pots which kill hun- sed of Samuel Kirk, and a school house dreds of thousands of young shad, and will play havock with the young salmon. AND DESIGNATION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERT

A Proper Public School Building .- That suitable Public School building is one of terms in his address before the Teachers' Institute, held last week. And before or understanding with the speaker on that occasion, on the subject of Public Schools or School Buildings. The substance of had long before deliberately considered, one must arrive at who reflects on the mat- appreciated in any county in the State as ter of Public Schools. That the accommodation for the Public School of this town is not only insufficient but disgraceful is a humiliating fact. That the old, one story abandoned brick church situated on an obscure site in a muddy, squallid region on Back street, is used as disgraceful.

The central town and county seat of the nhabitants lives under this stigma, apparently unconscious of the disgrace, and unconcerned by the crying evil. The miserable barrack located in a dirty obscure corner which serves as Public School house for Elkton, has not the capacity to seat more than half the children in town and vicinity, much less properly accommodate them, and consequently one of the assistant a part of the pupils. both teachers and pupils. There should be a first-class school building, constructed with all the modern improvements and conveniences .-It should have study and recitation rooms, and be fitted up with the best school furniture. The house should be at 10 o'clock A. M. large enough to afford ample accommodations for all the children in the town, and who live within convenient distance of the town. The building should be con- frieghts through the Canal. structed with a view to comfort and convenience, be handsomely finished and provided with pleasant grounds and shade trees for comfort in the summer on the play grounds. And in order that the chool should be convenient of access in the worst seasons, the building should have a central location as near as possible, with quarters. There is one such location in the town which would make an admirable site for a Public School building with grounds sufficient for the accommodation of the children. That spot is the lot on which the old jail was located. There is a Court was in session on Tuesday and fine lot large enough for every purpose required, and communicating with a broad well paved street. To replace the grated Evans and James A. Nothing enhances the value of property equal to an intelligent, moral and Wednesday last, for the purpose of and industrious population. If this town is even to take its place abreast of other towns surrounding it, its people must wake up and be doing, and proper education mending that the unoccupied lot intended for all the children is the first step in the commodious school buildings and grounds, this desirable object can only be partially attained. A comfortable, pleasant school room is just as essential to cheerful spirits and a tone of mind necessary to study, as a pleasant home. And, yet the people of quantities of neds and pike. this town have no better accommodation in the way of building and location for their Public School, than an ordinary, barn or horse stable; not near so handsome and the week. pleasantly located as the jail stable will be when completed. Spring .- It is pleasant to feel the warm breath of spring on the cheek, and hear the soft notes of the blue birds, after the long dreary winter, which is now passing away amid alternate, angry blasts from the north wind and bright skies, whose glorious sunlight quickens everything into new life, and tells that spring has come. The icy bands which have so long held the earth in their adamantine grasp, seem loth to give way, and hold on tenaciously in every north sheltered nook, only yielding by inches to the advancing power of the god of spring. The Exhibition of the Elkton Academy will be held in the Hall, on Thursday evening, March 20th, at 7.30 P. M. Tickets of Girls' School Room.
