The Cecil Whig

ELKTON, AUGUST 30, 1873.

THE CAMPAIGN WHIG FOR 25 Cents.

The WHIG will be sent to any address till the 1st of November inclusive for the above sum in advance. We ask all friends of Retrenchment and Reform to act as agents in carrying the paper into every family circle in the county. Let the people have light shed on the "ring" plunder and waste and there is no fear but they will vote right.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—The public schools of this county will open for the Fall session, on Monday next, September 1st.

—The Good Templars' County Convention meets at Rising Sun, on Wednesday, September 3d, at 10½ A. M.

—Miss Martha Biddle, principle of the Liberty Grove Public School, is the only authorized agent in Cecil county for the life of Rev. Alfred Cookman.

—A new map and descriptive circular containing location, prices, &c., &c., of Kansas Railroad Land, sent free on applicants, from the WHIG office.

—Bishop Campbell, of Philadelphia, will preach in the African M. E. Church, in this town, to-morrow (Sunday) at 11 o'clock A. M. and 3 P. M.

—Woodlawn Camp meeting closed with rain on Friday last. Favorable weather generally prevailed during the camp which was largely attended and very successful.

—A few fine peaches were in town this week, brought all the way from near Chestertown, Kent county. They sold readily at $1.25@$1.50 per basket, measuring about half a bushel.

—Twelve candidates were on the Woodlawn Camp ground on Thursday last, looking after their spiritual welfare, of course. The hand-shaking equaled a Presidential levee.

—A lady who is much annoyed by large black ants in her pantry, and every part of the house where anything they like is placed, wishes to know how to get rid of the pest. Can any of our readers impart the desired information?

—While ax-grinding, in the curb stone business is in fashion, wouldn't it be a good idea for the Town Commissioners to have the curbing straightened up on Bow street, below the Felton House, and the bricks relaid? The public are more interested in that part of the street, than in many of the private yards that have lately been hedged with granite.

—The Mutual Building Association will have very important business to transact this evening, and every member should be present. Owing to the non attendance of of members at the July meeting, which was the annual meeting, the election of officers could not take place. A committee was appointed on by-laws also, which was continued, and will report at the postponed meeting this evening, and every member should be present, and help to elect a board of officers for the present year.

Names of Teachers who have passed examination for certificates, August 27th, 1873: J. W. Cavender, Mattie Griffith, Hosea R. Smith, Hanna Brown, S. A. Campbell, Lucretia King, C. H. Crothers, S. W. Bromwell, J. Hiester Hess, Helen E. Dumm, Carrie W. Jenks, Emma V. Layman, ——— Frazer, Mary W. Reburn, C. Jones, A. L. Satterfield.

The Susquehanna Railroad Bridge.—On Friday of last week, a committee of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company awarded to the Baltimore Bridge Company the contract to replace the present wooden bridge now spanning the Susquehanna river at Havre de Grace by an iron structure. In all there are twelve spans in the bridge, each two hundred feet in length. The replacement of the present structure by an iron one will consume considerable time, as but one span can be operated upon at one time.

Larceny of a Cow.—Joseph Jones and wife, respectable colored people, who live over the line in Delaware, made complaint on Thursday last, before Justice Brown, that one Charles Clifford, another colored neighbor had stolen their cow—a family favorite by-the-way—from the stable on Tuesday night, driven the cow to Elkton, and placed her in possession of Mr. John Gallaher, one of our Elkton butchers, to whom the said Clifford had sold the animal the day previous. The cow was replevined by the Jameses, and a warrant issued for the absconding Clifford, who departed for parts unknown, with $25 in pocket, the proceeds of said cow, and has not yet been apprehended.

The Children's Gala Day.—Last Thursday was a gala day among the Elkton children, and some others that do not live in Elkton. Three Sunday school pic-nics were held on that day. The Presbyterian Sabbath school pic-nic was held in Mr. Merry's Grove. The Episcopal school occupied McCullough's grove and a Methodist school some three miles below town, held their pic-nic in a grove near the "Bull Frog." The amusements were swing and other innocent games, enjoyed as children, who know no care, alone can enter into earthly bliss; while the older heads amused themselves with games of coquet. Ice creams, cakes, mellons and more substantial fare were supplied in abundance, which the children were not alone in enjoying.—These periodic pic-nics of the Sabbath schools are looked forward to by the children with bright anticipations, which it is fair to admit are fully realized. The bliss of childhood is perfect, although it may seem trifling to matures years.

Young Offenders.—A party of boys, whose parents we believe are employees in the Baldwin cotton factory, were brought before Justice Howard by the Sheriff, on Thursday last, charged by Mr. Amos McNeal with plundering and destroying his watermelon patch. Mr. Baldwin plead in their behalf, and after a lecture from the Magistrate and Mr. Baldwin and a faithful promise not to be bad boys, guilty of swearing, stealing or other rude acts any more, they were all dismissed, except one who was committed to jail for contempt of court, and bad deportment generally while under arrest. The little fellow was pronounced a very black sheep, but when his comrades were all dismissed and he retained by the Sheriff, his courage gave way and he wept piteously. Mr. Baldwin put in a plea of sympathy for him and had the Magistrate to promise that he would be governed by his department after lodging in jail till the next day, and if he showed signs of genuine repentance, his case might be softened. He charged the boys, who were released, that if again caught depredating on the property of others, he would have them punished to the exent of the law. As it is hoped the boys acted thoughtlessly and they have promised to do better in future, we will not publish their names this time. The boy who was committed to jail was released in the afternoon.

Found Dead.—Jesse Acres, one of the track men of the railroad, discovered a man lying dead under cow culvert, yesterday morning. He was conveyed to Elkton and the usual inquest held over the body in the jail yard. Dr. Ellis was interrogated by the Coroner and gave it as his opinion, after examining the body, that he had died from natural causes. He bore all the marks of a played-out old tramp, whose thread of life had snapped suddenly. He was dirty and lousy beyond conception. He had small rings in his ears and a ring on one of his fingers, and rags on his person. The doctor thought life had been extinct probably 20 hours before he was found. The miserable creature had gone down to a rivulet that flowed under the culvert to cool his feet and get a drink, perhaps, and there fainted to wake in another world.

Registration of Voters.—The registration of voters will take place in each District on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, the 15th, 16th and 17th of September.—The Registers will open the books of registration at the voting place, or near that, in each District, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon and close at 6 o'clock P. M., each day. The officers of Registration are, for the First District, John Wroth; Second District, Noble Biddle; Third District, Wm. R. Gilpin; Fourth Distict, Benjamin C. Cowan; Fifth District, Granville S. Jeffries; Sixth District, Robert A. Evans; Seventh District, Clarence L. Jamar; Eighth District, John J. Bennett; Ninth District, H. H. Duyckinck. These registration notices ought to be officially published in both party papers—in some counties it is customary—but our county officers are economical in the sense implied in the old proverb, of saving at the tap while they let run at the bung. The registers will all do their duty it is most probable, as well as they know how; and it may be of some advantage to them to be assisted slightly by one or two members of the Republican party where cases of uncertainty arise. Also some of them are not at all noted for clerical ability. Last year there was considerable complaint, that careless, or inefficient management, or worse, appeared on the certified lists of voters which were placed in the hands of the judges of election; and if the latter officers had not placed as liberal a construction on the law,—which, in some instances, amounted to stritching—a number of persons would have been cut out of their votes. The Registers were called upon in several cases, by the judges to "explain" and amend, and we heard of instances where the Register not being present or to be found, in which the party lost his vote through clerical negligence in copying the lists or misspelling names. Such things ought not to occur, and it would be a great assistance to the Registers if a candidate of each party or some other persons well acquainted in the District would attend the places of Registration while the work is going on. We believe our Third District list was scrupulously correct. But then we are pretty much all "quill drivers" in Elkton. The more rural districts are not so favored in this respect.

Serious Accident—Camp Meeting—Rafting—New Coal and Lime Wharf—Removed.

One day last week while Carlton Kimble was driving a pair of young oxen which he had just bought and brought home, one of them fell and died in a few minutes. John Shelly, an old gentleman, residing with Mr. Kimble, was coming up, facing the oven, when the one above referred to fell, and being close to him, was struck in the side by one of his horns and received very serious injuries. Mr. Shelly was carried into the house in an insensible condition, and as soon as possible medical aid summoned. It is generally thought his injuries will not prove fatal, though it is feared by some that they will result otherwise.

Woodlawn camp meeting has thus far proven a success, at least in point of numbers. General good order has prevailed and a large number of persons have daily been to the altar, many of them professing religion. On last Sunday evening Rev. Mr. Cummings of Baltimore preached one of the best sermons I ever heard. Unlike many others he did not enter into a long line of opinions regarding certain doctrines, but he preached a plain, common sense sermon, in beautiful, though simple language, so truthful and convincing that every earnest mind must have felt the necessity of humble religious duty.

Quite a number of rafts have come down the last week, but the river is getting too low to run.

Mr. Will Heckart is about opening a new coal yard and lime wharf, near Buck's saw mill. It is said that opposition is the life of trade; if so, the coal trade should be brisk in Port.

The barber shop of the Messrs. Oliver, has lately been removed from the old stand, under Mrs. Smith's hotel to Mr. Rowland's building, lately occupied by Davis and Way as an office.

Chesapeake City Items.

The Flood—Religious—Base Ball—Markets.

We were unable to furnish you with items, last week, of our great flood, and as it is now widly known, we will only add that the work of repairs is rapidly progressing, both here and at St. Georges.—We are unable to say when navigation will be resumed; some say two months, others five weeks, &c. Parties are daily going from here to visit the ruins at St. Georges. The distruction here is not to be compared with that, notwithstanding we had two houses almost ruined; not fit to be occupied, and the steam pump building was considerably damaged. The two steam tugs (belonging to Messrs. Brady & Bro.) that were sunk in the canal during the freshet, have been raised and will be sent to Baltimore for repairs. Our harbor is now nearly filled with boats, which are still packing in. The mill dams in our section are also nearly all washed away.

No preaching in the Presbyterian Church on Sabbath next. Preaching is expected to be at the M. E. Church, at 10½ o'clock.

Chesapeake appears to have the champion base ball players of any size. Our little boys went from here to Elkton, last week, and played a game with the Elkton boys. Chesapeake boys came out winners.

Potatoes, per bush., $1.50 to $2; sweet potatoes, $1 per basket; peaches, per basket, $1 to $1.25; flour, per bbl., $9; butter 25 to 30 cents; eggs 20 cents per dozen; lard, 10 to 12 cents.

Premium for Subscribers.—We will give one $75 Parker breech-loading double-barreled shot gun and $11 worth of shells, caps, etc., making a premium worth $86 to any person who will send us eighty new subscribers to The Cecil Whig with two dollars each, between now and the 30th of October.

Proceedings of the Republican County Convention.

Pursuant to a call of the Executive Committee, the Republicans of Cecil county met in Convention on Tuesday, August 26th, in Elkton, to nominate candidates for the offices to be filled at the coming election.

The officers of the Convention were:—Mr. Thomas B. Hopper, President; vice-President, Mr. T. P. Jones; Secretary, Dr. R. H. Tuft; Assistant Secretary, R. C. Thackery.

On call for credentials the following gentlemen appeared as delegates:

First District.—Thomas P. Jones, J. H. Clark, F. Price, C. B. Jones, J. W. Cavender.

Second District.—Reuben Lake, T. B. Hopper, W. T. Kane, Joseph Brooks, S. P. Wood.

Third District.—E. E. Ewing, Joseph Wells, John L. Smith, George Ricketts, (Mr. Ricketts was elected to fill the place of Mr. Townsend Poole, who was absent.) John E. Wilson.

Fourth District.—David Scott, James McKane, Dr. R. C. Carter, S. K. Miller, John Brewster.

Fifth District.—J. Wesley Falls, Wm. T. Richardson, Samuel Johnson, John A. Rutter, Alfred Ford.

Seventh District.—James A. Davis, D. K. Ralston, E. T. Thompson, J. Dixon West, J. Wesley Martin.

Eighth District.—W. T. West, Gideon Boddy, Joseph A. Roman, W. P. Cummings, Jethro McCullough.

Ninth District.—Samuel Haddock, Thos. Janney, Wm. T. Warburton, R. Hains England, Samuel J. Brown.

On motion the first business brought before the Convention was the selection of four delegates, to represent Cecil county in the State Convention, to be held in Frederick City, September 12th, 1873.—The gentlemen selected were:—Joseph B. Pugh, Col. Joseph C. Hill, Dr. R. C. Carter, Jacob Tome.

By consent of the Convention each district was empowered to select a person to represent it on the County Central Committee, and on call of the Districts, the following were named and declared acceptable to the Convention:

Several motions were offered as to the manner in which the Convention should nominate, pending which the Convention adjourned until half-past one o'clock.—Upon its re-assembling the same motions were again offered, when the following course was decided upon, to nominate in order: Clerk, Register, County Commissioner, Sheriff, State Senator, Delegates to the Legislature, County Surveyor.

Nominations for Clerk being then in order, Palmer C. Strickland, being the only one named for the position, was declared the unanimous choice of the Convention.

The next in order was the nomination for Register, when, upon the call of the Districts, Jas. B. Price, Dr. N. B. Morrison and John M. Ireland, were placed in nomination. The first ballot resulted as follows:

James B. Price	4
Dr. N. B. Morrison	17
John M. Ireland	24

Mr. John M. Ireland, having received the necessary number of votes was, on motion, declared the unanimous choice of the Convention.

Nomination for County Commissioners followed, when Thomas P. Jones, Joseph H. Clark, Col. I. D. Davis, James McKane, J. T. Reed, W. T. West, Jas. C. Crothers were named for the position.

FIRST BALLOT.

Thomas P. Jones	15
Col. I. D. Davis	8
James McKane	18
Wm. T. West	27
James C. Crothers	30
J. H. Clark	15

As but two gentlemen were elected a second ballot was necessary, which resulted in the selection of Mr. Thomas P. Jones, Mr. Clark withdrawing his name. The candidates, therefore, for this position are, Messrs. W. T. West, James C. Crothers, Thomas P. Jones.

Then followed the nomination for Sheriff, when George W. Boulden, of the Second District, Benoni Cooling, of the Fifth District, J. N. McCullough, of the Seventh District, John W. McCardle, of the Ninth District, and T. V. Kesler, of the Third District, were placed before the Convention.

FIRST BALLOT.

Geo. W. Boulden	30
Benoni Cooling	5
J. N. McCullough	3
J. W. McCardle	4
T. V. Kesler	3

Thereupon Mr. George W. Boulden was declared the unanimous choice of the Convention.

For State Senator, Mr. Job Haines, of Rising Sun, (there being no other candidates named) was unanimously declared the nominee.

The next in order was the nomination of Delegates to the Legislature, when the following persons were placed in nomination:—J. J. Wright, of the First District, W. C. Lake, of the Second District, Geo. Ricketts, of the Third District, J. Wesley Falls, of the Fifth District, J. T. Reynolds, of the Sixth District, J. R. Coulson, of the Seventh District, J. C. Warner, of the Eighth District; and the choice of the Convention fell upon Geo. Ricketts, J. R. Coulson, J. Wesley Falls, by the following vote:

J. J. Wright	5
W. C. Lake	9
Geo. Ricketts	27
J. W. Falls	44
J. T. Reynolds	5
J. R. Coulson	37
J. C. Warner	8

Mr. Wm. T. Bye, of the Fourth District, was then selected as the nominee for County Surveyor, without opposition.

The nominations for the different offices having thus been completed, on motion, the County Central Committee was empowered to fill all vacancies that might occur upon the ticket, after which the Convention adjourned sine die.

THE GREAT STORM.

To the Wilmington Commercial we are indebted for the following account of the damage done by the great storm of last week.

THE STORM TRACK

Seems to have been confined to a narrow belt, extending not quite so far North as New Castle and South only as far as Townsend. From Kirkwood to Townsend it seems to have been the most severe, and property of all kinds within this limit, from bay to bay, has sustained serious damage. About Middletown, not a single dam breast is left standing, and in the country west of this many are reported to have been involved in the general ruin. But the greatest sufferers by the flood are the Delaware Railroad and the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal Cos.

The most serious damage to the Delaware R. R. is at the point where it crosses the canal. Here, not only the embankment which was thrown up twenty or thirty feet high, was washed away, but a yawning chasm is left open under it not less than fifteen feet deep. Of this embankment and earth about 400 feet were removed, or all between the brow of the hill which overlooks the canal on the North side, and the railroad bridge. This structure is still standing upon its two centrla massive stone piers and south abutment, but the North abutment was overturned by the force of the current which swept through the chasm. The bridge is intact, although to the width of the draw it projects over the chasm; but this projection is the draw itself, and is balanced upon the draw pier.

The breaches in the embankments below the canal are, some of them, very serious. The worst, probably, is at Willow Bridge, where 90 feet are said to have been washed out. This bridge is about 2½ miles north of Middletown. At Beaston's, also this side of Middletown, an embankment 10 or 12 feet high is broken from 20 to 22 feet.—The culvert at "Frogpond," near the old Forest Presbyterian burying ground just this side of Middletown was broken. Below Middletown, the St. Ann's Culvert is gone. The road bed is greatly washed, all the way from New Castle to Townsend, and in some places, at the county road crossings, for instance, great holes are washed underneath the track, leaving it and the ties upon which the rails are laid suspended in mid-air.

THE DAMAGE TO THE CANAL

Along the whole line serious breaches and washes were made, but the principle points of damage are three in number—at Summit Bridge or the "Deep Cut," at the Railroad Crossing, and at St. Georges. To look upon it at these places the damage seems to be irreparable—at least for this season. Navigation cannot possibly be resumed before cold weather sets in, and we may safely state that no more boats will pass through before next season. The total loss to the canal will exceed $100,000; and if the damaged vessels claim compensation for their losses and delays, as some people seem to think they will, the aggregate will be enormously swelled.

SUMMIT BRIDGE.

In times of heavy rains, this locality has always been more or less trouble to the Canal company. It is here that the deep cut is made, and down the lofty declivities rolls sand and debris which find lodgment in the bottom of the canal. But it has never undegone such a disaster. Whole trees were washed down into it, and the filling up was so great that only about three feet of water is left in the canal at this point. A tug was caught among the floating debris, and by a land slide, or in some other way, turned upon its side. But the damage here is trifling, when contrasted with the sad appearance of things at

THE RAILROAD BRIDGE.

For about a quarter of a mile at this point, under and on both sides of the railroad bridge, not only the canal but the entire marsh land through which it is built is covered beneath one bed of yellow sand, which was washed away from the main land on the North side. The line of the canal is still traceable, and in some places the piling along the towpath lift their heads above the mantle of earth, but every where covering an area of several acres, the valley of the canal presents much the appearance of a newly ploughed field of sand upon which the rains and floods had descended. Here and there ponds of water dot the surface, and the natural flow of the stream of the feeder meanders through a new channel, but the water in the canal and in the creek are displaced and served to augment the the torrent which was so prolific of disaster further down. That such an area of solid earth should be swept away seems almost impossible, but under a proper understanding of the nature and extent of the feeder, and the peculiar manner in which it ever-run its dam breast, the matter is easily enough comprehended.

THE FEEDER TO THE CANAL

The storage capacity of the feeder is immense. It covered an area of about 800 acres. When the water broke through the dam breast, instead of following the natural course of the stream they swayed to the Eastward and soon cut a channel through the solid earth which gradually widened and widened and grew deeper and deeper until a great yawning chasm was opened. In its rapacious maw a portion of two cornfields, the railroad embankment, ties and rails, trees, fences, and everything upon the surface, were swallowed up. The earth was opened to within a few feet of a dwelling which stands well up in the field, and occupied by a Mr. Cann, we believe.

THE DAMAGE AT ST. GEORGES.

At St. Georges the scene is truly awe-inspiring, for here the most serious consequences of the flood are to be seen. The town itself has suffered but little, but in the meadows around and between it, for the town is built up on both sides of the canal, wreck and ruin are wide-spread.—Sail vessels and canal boats are lying high and dry where the receding waters left them, and here and there are piles of debris, from the wrecks.

Above the corn-fields rise the masts and spars of many vessels, while the white winged canvass flaps uneasily in the breeze. There were in all from a hundred to a hundred and twenty-five boats clustered into a very small space there, before the flood came, but they are more scattered now.

It was about 9 o'clock when the flood from the broken feeder was precipitated upon the town of St. Georges. Its approach is said to have been heard above the storm for some time before its fury was felt, sounding like the rushing of many waters—a metaphor which in this instance was a dread reality. On and on it came, drawing nearer and nearer, and gathering increased velocity as it rolled, until it finally broke over the canal banks, flooding the meadows and the lower parts of the town. By this time many of the vessels moored along the sides of the canal had broken loose from their moorings, and were swept through the breaches in the canal banks, or over them, out upon the sea which was surging within the banks of the creek as it moved onward towards the Delaware.—These vessels floated mercilessly at the disposal of the torrent, and in their rapid twistings and turnings were driven into one another, staving in their sides and ends, and producing consternation and fear on all hands. One vessel was capsized and in her rigging to-day she bears large quantities of tangled grass and other floating things. She has since uprighted somewhat, and is now lying on the meadow at an inclination of about 45 degrees. But which was more dreadful than all the rest was the

CRIES OF DISTRESS AND FOR HELP

Which were wafted in the darkness from the swelling flood to the main land. They rose above the rushing waters and the crashing of the boats, swept by the causeway, grew fainter and fainter, and finally were heard no more. Some ten or twelve lives are supposed to have been lost. It is related that after the bridge which spans the creek and forms, with the causeway, a connection between the two parts of the town, was dislodged by a boat which was hurled against it, a small pungy was seen to pass through the same aperture, break in twain, and no part of it has since been seen. A man was seen sitting upon the bow-sprit holding on to the rigging, and he is supposed to have been drowned. One schooner lies high and dry in Mr. Newton's cornfield, west of St. Georges. Along the ravine some six or eight schooners are lying at a distance of from 150 to 300 yards from the canal. They are scattered all about and in clusters in the meadows, while in one of the breaches in the canal bank about a dozen canal boats are lying in a pile one upon the other, while a bridge is crushed to atoms between them. There are also several boats in the canal which are not damaged. We suppose there are some thirty which are outside the banks.—The boats are all heavily laden with coal, ties, lumber and cordwood.

HOW THE CANAL WILL BE REPAIRED AND THE VESSELS FLOATED OUT.

The Canal Company has matured its plans for the repair and reconstruction of this great work. They will first fill in the breaches between St. Georges and Delaware City, in the lower level, and pumping in water from the eastern end will float out the boats lying in the canal east of the locks. This accomplished, they will then repair all the breaches in the banks of the upper level, or west of St. Georges, except those which are necessary to form a passage for the boats from the meadows into the canal, and finally the roadway, or dam, which connects the two ends of St. Georges will be rebuilt, the water will be admitted the meadows will be flooded, the boats will be got into the canal, locked through and then sent on to their destinations. In the meantime the cargoes will be removed and the vessels lightened up that no greater flooding may be made than there is necessity for. The sand at the railroad bridge will be removed by means of steam dredging machines and by horses and carts.

By October 1st it is thought the canal will be again open to trade; but this seems hardly probable now.

On the night of the great disaster, C. Newbold Price, son of the Superintendent of the Canal, John R. Price, and Benjamin N. Ogle, of Delaware City, were driving along the tow-path of the lower level when the break in the canal occurred. They heard the rushing of the waters long before the flood was precipitated upon them, but not knowing what it was they alighted from the vehicle in which they were riding, and hitching their horse, they started to walk on down the bank. They had not gone far, however, before they were obliged to seek safety in trees, which fortunately withstood the fury of the flood. Their cries for help attracted many persons to the bank, but no one could be induced by the rewards which they offered to attempted their rescue, until finally, while the waters were rushing impetuously down the valley, Captain John Wall, of the schooner William Magee, boldly put out from shore in a small yawl-boat and brought them in safely to the main land.

The Ericsson steamers, four in number, are put out of commission, and expect to remain so for a month unless the break in the canal should be repaired sooner, as they think it can be, if sufficient vigor characterizes the movements of those having charge of the work. The eight steamboats of the New York and Baltimore Transportation Company are also laid up, and about 150 barges of East & McMahon's line and the Clyde line. These throw out of employment about 600 or 800 persons.

Pic-nic—Gipsies—Death.

The "Big Elk" Sunday School pic-nic came off on Tuesday last. The programme for the day consisted of devotional exercises, speaking, music, and playing. There was quite a good turnout, and everything passed off very pleasantly.

A party of gipsies, said to be encamped near Oak Hill, are having quite an interesting time this week. Two of their number have been hunting around this neighborhood for a man (Gipsy) whom they allege ran away from their camp with a girl 14 years of age. He is reported to have left a wife and children in exchange. They secured the girl at Fair Hill on Tuesday, but the man escaped. They are after him in earnest, and talk as though they would use him rather roughly if they had hold of him.

In Wilmington, Del., on 23rd. instant, Mrs. Eliza Hill, wife of Alexander Hill, formerly of this District. At the residence of Mrs. Sarah A. Price, on the 28th inst., of consumption, Susan E. Harris, in the 63rd year of her age.

The Wear and Tear of Life.

The cares, anxieties and misfortune's of life have as much to do with shortening it as disease. They are in fact the source of many ailments and physical disabilities. Nervous weakness, dyspepsia, affections of the liver, disturbances of the bowels, headache, hypocondria and monomania are among these distressing fruits. It is, therefore, of great importance that persons whose minds are oppressed with heavy business responsibilities or harassed by family troubles, or excited by speculation or perplexed by a multiplicity of enterprises, or in any way overtaxed or overworked, should keep up their stamina by the daily use of a wholesome tonic. Thousands of persons thus circumstanced are enabled to bear up against the difficulties in which they are involved, and to retain their strength, health and mental clearness, by the regular use of hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Diseases which are prone to attack the body when debilitated and broken down by over-much brain work or exhausting physical labor, are kept at bay by the resistant power with which this incomparable tonic endows the nervous system and the vital organs. At this season, when the heat is evaporating the elements of strength from every pore, an invigorant is absolutely essential to the safety and comfort of the public, and is required even by the more robust if they desire to keep their athletic capabilities in status quo. Hence a course of Hostetters Bitters is particularly useful at this period of the year as a defence against the invisible disease afloat in a sultry atmosphere. It is the most potent of all preventive medicines, and for all complaints which affect the stomach, the liver and the bowels, and interfere with the perfect digestion and assimilation of food, it is the standard remedy.

—The Rural Home, (Rochester,) offers this excellent hint;—"How many misunderstandings arise from the loose way in which business matters are talked over, and then when each party puts his own construction on the conversation, the matter is dismissed by each, with the words: 'All right; all right.' Frequently it turns out all wrong, and becomes a question for lawyers and the courts. More than three-fourths of the litigation of the country would be saved if people would put down their agreements in writing and sign their names to it. Each word in our language has its peculiar meaning, and memory may by the change of its position in a sentence, convey an entire different idea from that intended. When once reduced to writing, ideas are fixed, and expensive lawsuits are avoided."

DOG AND LOGIC.—A fat old gentleman was bitten in the calf of the leg by a dog. He at once rushed to the magistate, and preferred a complaint against a joker in the neighborhood, whom he supposed to be the owner of the offending cur. The following was the defence offered by the wag: "1. By testimony in favor of the general good character of my dog, I shall prove that nothing could make him so forgetful of his canine dignity as to bite a calf. 2d. He is blind and cannot see to bite. 3d. Even if he could see to bite, it would be utterly impossible for him to go out of his way to do so, on account of his severe lameness. 4th. Granting his eyes and legs to be good, he has no teeth. 5th. My dog died six weeks ago. 6th. I never had any dog."

—A Danbury man's order for his wife's hat is a novelty in its way. She was sick, and couldn't go for the hat, so he drove in himself. He told the milliner to put on a dollar's worth of parsley, fifty cents' worth of string beans, ten cents' worth of cherries, a few green currants, a beet or two, a little cabbage, and about three slices of turnips, or, if it was too early for turnips, make it two new potatoes instead.

DURING THE HEATED TERM

THE MAJORITY OF PERSONS SUFFER FROM

General Physical Prostration and Debility, Loss of Appetite, Distaste for Food, Want of Energy, Languor, Paleness, Emaciation, &c.

FOR THE COMPLETE RELIEF OF ALL SUCH CASES WE WOULD CALL ESPECIAL ATTENTION TO THE FOLLOWING PREPARATIONS:

Phospho-Ferrated Elixir of Calisaya Bark.

(Iron, Phosphorus and Calisaya.)

AND BITTER WINE OF IRON,

MADE BY E. BRINGHURST & CO.

These elegant Preparations are palatable and grateful to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and uniform in strength, possessing decided tonic and anti-periodic properties. They improve the appetite, assist digestion, create a relish for food, increase the strength and relieve the exhaustion and fatigue arising from excessive mental or physical labor, and are particularly valuable as a Restorer, Invigorator and Appetizer in all forms of general debility which are attended with nervous prostration and impoverishment of the blood, and especially suited for the use of convalescents, delicate females and children.
