MEETING OF CONGRESS.

Congress will assemble on Monday next, much expectation by the public. The Cuban question which momentarily flared Cuban question which momentarily flared than the year ending such that the year end yea able diplomacy.

The financial question is evidently to be reached gold and silver long ere this, is an impression that the people are strongly possessed with. The well-meant efforts of the Administration to lighten the burdens of the people by paying off the public debt, many believe was not the most substantial way to afford relief. An irredcemable paper currency which is constantly kept fluctuating by stock-gamblers, has cost the legitimate business of the country more than the reduction of the debt 18.55 per cent. has saved in taxes. It is the impression of due. Gold to redeem them should have 12.5 per cent. treasury from custom receipts. Abun-

The Government's property is tax, and all the receipts over and above the current exbeen applied to paying off the greenback promises to pay, which every working man held, and which drew no interest, in place of paying off bonds which represented idle capital and diew interest. Now that the revenues have run down so as to leave no surplus after the current expenses of Government have been defrayed, there is no gold to redeem greenbacks with, unless it Government debt as bonds. When gold enough is provided to redeem them we will

and not till then.

In speaking of not hearing the sermons of Rev. Pennell Coombe, delivered in the Presbyterian Church in the morning, and was the subject of very general remark, and by the best established rules of rhetoric and composition, it will bear that construction more appropriately than any other. That the editor intended his language to convey a different impression than what it really does express, we are willing to believe, since his earnest disclaimer of Saturday last. But if a writer is so carcless in his remarks as to say what he does not intend to say, he should not complain if the public take him at his word, and subject his language to unfavorable criticism. The Democrat stands in the position of one who is bound to explain and apologise for its slips, and not complain of ill-usage. To quoto from an essay read at some former religious assemblage, does not alter the status of the last profression of faith. A man may say some very charitable things, or do some very Christian acts, and afterward steal, lie, or defend "whisky and dram-drinking." His former good works do not atone for his bad deeds latterly committed.

The editor having read an essay filled with Christain charity before an Episcopalian Convocation held in Kent county, on a former occasion, does not exhonorate him from making such reflections on other houses "dedicated to God," as the above paragraph quoted contains. He was not then as now so actively engaged in the service of the party dedicated to " whisky and dram drinking."

But we are willing to concede that he did not mean that any Churches which permitted the Rev. Penuell Coombe to raise his voice against the evils and the sin of intemperance in their pulpits, were not houses "dedicated to God." The language unfortunately employed was such as to to the press in advance of its transmission their strength, and look confidently to every unfortunately employed was such as to create a very general impression that such was meant, and he stands a fair subject for offering an apology and explanation, rather than a complainment of ill-treatment by The Widy and the community at large. We will try in future to bear in mind that The Democrat does not always mean what it says. It doubtless felt just then under many weighty obligations to the advocates of unrestricted liquor license, and wished in a spirit of gratitude, to make a proper acknowledgement. "Only that and nothing more."

Tallu another column you will find an advertisement of the Parker Gun, which is before the public, backed by hundreds of testimonials, like the following:

Breech Loaders-The Parker Gun. Few sportsmen at the present are satisfigold to redeem greenbacks with, unless it is bought by issuing bonds and increasing the debt. This, many of our ablest financiers think, would be cheapest for the people, in the long run, to do. The uncertain and fluctuating values caused by an irredeemable paper currency cost the American people more than to buy gold outright sufficient to redeem all greenbacks on demand. Debt is debt, and greenbacks are as clearly a part of the Government debt as bonds. No class of men have probably ever been cursed by drink as the Irish have, yet controlled as their votes are by a few leaders to voto solidly for party, to take any decided action in favor of Temperance would be to lose this vote. Still this is but an incident of the question; it is the to have taken up greenbacks, till they Post Office Savings Banks, is described and hopeless dislike of the leaders to any innovations on established order that is at fault. The Ohio, Illinois, Indiana The Report recommends that the publand Wisconsin damage laws were passed protests, and their papers boldly point to the defeat of Washburn in the last State as a consequence of the dissatisfaction the law restoring the postage on county with such legislation. This is evidently untrue; yet it shows the animus of the NEW AMERICAN SPELLERS, prove particularly enerous on all country party. In the Legislature of New York papers, tending to increase the advantages no Democrat was found to advocate giving New American Readers, already enjoyed by the large city publications, over their weak country brethren. for themselves, and the "Local Option" The Report does not recommend the repeal of the clause which restored the payment bill passed by an almost strict party vote, of postage on county papers and ex-changes, and thus tacitly acquiesces in the Legislature of Pennsylvaniathe same state of facts existed when the "Local Option" Congress show their customary enterprise bill was passed, and while the temperance HISTORIES-LARGE and SMALL, FALL & WINTER men carried a majority of the counties, those old Democratic ones, such as Berks, Carbon, York and Monroe were found voting solidly for license. Such facts show how the sympathy of that party is directed. The hopes of Temperance action any where is in Republican success. In Maryland this fall the question of "Local Option" has entered more or less actively into the contest all over the increased by the meddling of well-mean. New and Attractive Goods dint-lock. Among the many varieties of breech-loading shot guns the Parker gun commends itself to those who have used it as unexcelled, uniting all the attainable blindly their party ticket, no matter what blindly their party ticket, no matter what requisites for a perfect piece; and it is drunkard's names may disfigure it, while probably in more general use and better temperance Republicans will not.

Another fact this election has proved, is Its simplicity of construction, ready manipulation (as the hand is naturally in the vote the Democratic ticket out of dislike proper position for opening the barrel after discharge, thus saving time and motoin) and the invariable excellence of the barrels to relief the proper position of the proper position for opening the barrel after the proper position of the proper positi —the strong, even the continuous capacity are recommendations to which every man who has used the gun will emphatically writer met with a rather amusing illustration of this fact on the day of the election.
